DEFENCE FORCES OF BURMA NOW SPLIT BY FALL OF LASHIO

Road to China Cut by Enemy at Vital Junction—British and Chinese Defenders Separated by Overwhelming Strength—Other Supply Lines Arranged—City Left in Flames

CHUNGKING, April 30 (P).—Flaming Lashio was in Japanese hands tonight. The Burma Road had been cut at that vital junction and the British and Chinese defenders of Burma, separated by enemy forces of overwhelming strength.

This was the outline of disaster given in a communique of the Chinese command, which disclosed that Lashio had fallen to the invaders on Wednesday, after a great and bloody battle along that left anchor of the Allied line, but reported, too, that Chinese troops still are fighting on doggedly in the vicinity of the city. Casualties were high on both sides.

An army spokesman said that the Japanese found only an empty city when they took Lashio; that its fall did not disrupt supply lines for other fronts because new lines already had been arranged under orders of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

WILL FIGHT TO LAST Both the Chinese and British forces, he said, would fight on until the last in Burma.

An unknown quantity of lease-lend supplies which could not be sent northward toward China.

CARBURETOR IS NOT PRACTICAL

Ralston Says Pogue Invention Found Unsatisfactory In Thorough Tests

OTTAWA, April 30 (P).—Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons tonight that exhaustive tests of the "Pogue carburetor" were carried out by the National Defence Department and research technicians last fall and it was proved unsatisfactory.

On two occasions this week the Pogue carburetor, claimed by its inventor, Nelson C. Pogue of Winnipeg, to be capable of operating a car 200 miles on a gallon of gasoline, has been mentioned in the House of Commons.

Tonight, C. E. Johnston (N.C. River) mentioned it, and, like Rev. E. O. Hansell (N.D. Macleod), yesterday, suggested some powerful influence was preventing its development.

Col. Ralston gave the first official information on Government tests of the invention tonight. He said that last fall the master-general of ordnance had Mr. Pogue brought to Ottawa and kept him here for six weeks on an allowance of $10 a day while he worked with departmental technicians on the Government proving grounds, attempting to make the contrivance work.

QUITE IMPRACTICABLE The carburetor got some increased mileage at the sacrifice of power and speed, Col. Ralston said. It was quite impracticable on heavy load-carrying vehicles.

Mr. Pogue has never been able to give us a carburetor that works without being constantly adjusted, and when I say constantly I mean just that.

The inventor had been told the department would be glad to examine any new efforts he produced, and the minister said he believed Mr. Pogue now was in Ottawa seeking to perfect his invention.

Nazis Don't Like Raids; Want Truce

LONDON, May 1 (Friday) (P).—The Daily Mail quoted The Geneva Journal today as saying Germany is willing to effect an "armistice" with Britain in the bombing of cities of the two countries.

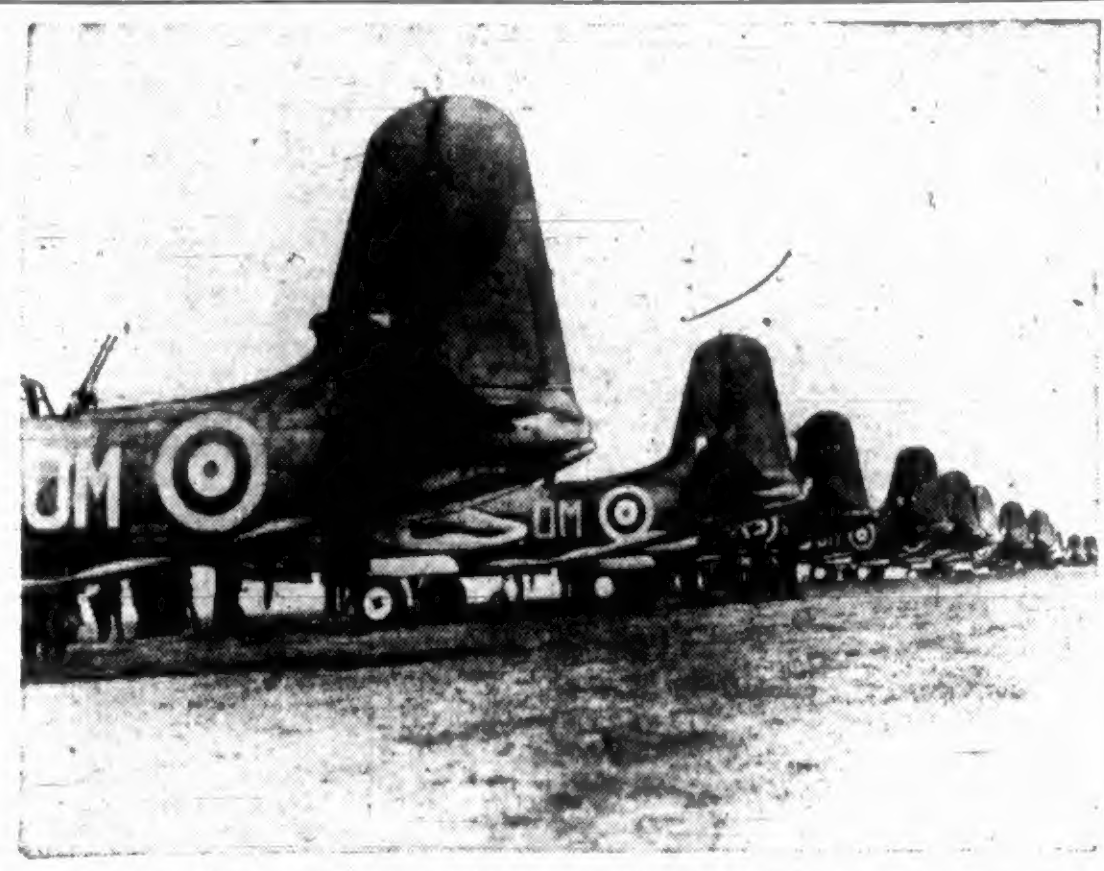

The Journal's Berlin correspondent was quoted as writing:

"It is semi-officially stated here that Berlin is Germany will call off the bombing of English towns if the R.A.F. will change its methods of bombing German cities."

The correspondent added that the present bombing drive is highly unpopular with the German people.

Says Russia Must Smash Invaders To the Last Man

Except Surrender "There Is No Other Alternative Way," Declares Stalin in May Day Order to Army and Civilians—Soviet Has No "Territorial Ambitions"

MOSCOW, May 1 (Friday) (P).—Premier Joseph Stalin in a May Day order of the day pledged that Russia has no territorial ambitions upon foreign countries and declared that the Soviet's sole aim is to liberate its lands from "the German Fascist blackguards."

Broadcasting his war effort in the nation, the Premier-Defence Commissar praised Great Britain and the United States for the increasing assistance he said they are giving Russia against the Germans.

He declared that Russia must "smash the German Fascist army and wipe out the German invader of the last man if it will not surrender."

There is no other alternative," Stalin said that the only thing now lacking is the ability of the Red Army now to utilize fully the first class technique which the Fatherland is putting at their disposal against the enemy.

MAY HELP BOYS ENTER COLLEGE

Scholarships for Candidates To Naval Institution Considered by Government

OTTAWA, April 30 (P).—Navy Minister Macdonald, in a return tabled today in the House of Commons, said consideration is being given to the provision of scholarships or other aid for successful candidates for admission to the Canadian Naval College opening next October, whose parents cannot afford to send a boy to the institution.

The question of possible assistance was raised by T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview).

Mr. Macdonald said the Government already offers annually a maximum of five naval cadetships available to sons of officers and men of the navy or to sons of navy men, or members of the Canadian mercantile marine killed or incapacitated during hostilities.

Captain of the new college being established near Victoria has not been appointed; the minister said the executive officer will be Lieut. P. E. Hadden, who has been at sea since the outbreak of war. Under K. G. B. Ketchum, headmaster of St. Andrew's College at Aurora, Ont., director of the studies at the college will be four instructors from Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.

THOUSANDS OF NAZIS DIE IN TANK BATTLES ALONG KALININ FRONT

Moscow Reports 14,000 Officers and Men Annihilated and 168 Tanks Destroyed in Fierce Fighting—No Substantial Changes on Line

LONDON, May 1 (Friday) (P).—A Russian tank brigade fighting on the Kalinin front has destroyed 168 Axis tanks and annihilated more than 14,000 officers and men in fierce fighting, it was officially reported early today by the Moscow radio.

The radio broadcasting a supplement to the regular midnight communique, reported no substantial changes on the long battle line, said the single tank brigade also destroyed twenty-nine planes, many trucks, machine guns, mortars and armored cars.

It declared that 13,000 officers and men were annihilated in the earlier fighting and that in the last few days tanks broke through to the German rear and killed about 1,000 more troops.

The Kalinin front, scene of some of the bloodiest fighting of the entire war, with the Russians reporting German casualties in the thousands at frequent intervals, is northwest of Moscow.

Earlier the Moscow radio broadcast reports that the Red Army, fighting on an unspecified sector of the central front, just south of the Kalinin area, had sent German troops reeling back to the west after many hours of hand-to-hand fighting.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province

(Copyright 1942 by Southern Cross) LONDON, April 30 (By Cable).—Japan has reached Lashio, on the Burma Road, and is trying to capture Hsueh as well as cut the railway to Mandalay. It is believed in Chungking that after reaching North Burma the invaders will likely turn towards India, perhaps not immediately because of the start of the monsoon, but as soon after as possible.

Editorially, The Times says the Burma campaign has gone ill for Allied and Chinese forces from the start. The Japanese have made rapid gains during the past few days, partly due to their cutting off of British forces on the Irrawaddy, where Chinese reinforcements endeavored to relieve them. Until mid-April the main enemy operations were up the valleys of the Irrawaddy and Salween Rivers, and movement against Chinese forces were slow. However, the invaders speeded up their advance towards the South Shan States and Chinese covering forces were unable to hold them. The whole situation was thus changed.

The stroke at the Burma Road is undoubtedly grave. Reinforcements are still being sent to the front, but there is now the possibility they will not be driven up the Burma Road by the Japanese, but cut off from it altogether. The enemy has five divisions in Burma, with armored forces as well. They march so lightly equipped that in the zone between the Salween and Irrawaddy Rivers they have no difficulty in maintaining an army of such size. Much now depends, on the date of the arrival of rains. If they are early, the enemy's further conquest will be greatly hampered.

The only consolation in this unhappy story adds The Times is that despite resistance in Burma, the R.A.F. has been further prepared to be made for the defence of India.

A fact of considerable importance in the long run, the Japanese have won no great strategic victories which would affect first sight. But their war lord General Tojo is not deceived, and he tells his fellow countrymen that the war is only being won by the real test of the battle of Bataan.

The battle for Bataan, by its means ended and the Axis are far from having been deprived of capacity for further resistance.

It is saying that Germany, the power of placing the whole population under control of Hitler, is a fact of considerable importance in the long run.

Clearly the German people are affected by this, but they are not yet at the point of being at home.

ARRIVES IN LONDON TO ASSUME DUTIES

LONDON, April 30 (P).—Admiral Harold R. Stark, of the United States Navy, arrived in London today to assume his duties as commander in chief of the United States naval operations in the Atlantic.

Stark is accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Stark, and a son, John Stark, who is a naval aviator.

TWO U.S. TANKERS SUNK IN BATTLE

Ships Are Torpedoed in Running Gunfight With Two U-Boats Off Cuba

HAVANA, April 30 (P).—Two armed United States tankers and medium-size merchant ship, U-boats in a running gunfight off the northeast coast of Cuba, it was reported today in Cuban broadcasts.

They said the two tankers of 10,000 tons each, the expedition and the other, simultaneously sank. Both were put out to pick up survivors.

It was reported that survivors including the captain of one tanker who was wounded were taken to Cuba in a private boat.

Seven other survivors of them were reported to be in a lifeboat, and one of the tankers was said to have had a crew of fifty-three and the other fifty-two.

Rubber Plant and Motor Works Attacked—Battles Fought Over Channel—German Destroyers Bombed—French Coast Ports Assaulted in Daylight—Six Nazi Planes Shot Down

LONDON, April 30 (P).—The R.C.A.F. Wellington Bomber Squadron, commanded by Wing Cmdr. Douglas Bradshaw, of London, Ont., joined forces of the R.A.F. in spreading flaming ruin in the former Goodrich Rubber Factory and the Gnome-Rhone Motor Works near Paris last night as Britain pressed the offensive on the Continent's aerial "second front."

BULLETINS

MAJOR AIR OPERATIONS

LONDON, April 30 (P).—Air-Force of the Fighter Command carried out seven major offensive sweeps today, and during which the Air Ministry called "big scale" operations attacked targets on a 400-mile front from the Brittany Coast of France to The Netherlands port of Flushing.

One formation of fighters and bombers attacked three German destroyers, sweeping merchant ships off the British coast. One destroyer was damaged.

Douglas bombers also attacked Flushing, The Netherlands, and Abbeville, France.

IN FIRST ACTION

The Paris raid was the first known action of Wing Commander Bradshaw's squadron since he became its commanding officer April 8. Previously he was the leader of the squadron that had smashed hard at Nazi war industries in the Ruhr.

The Germans countered the R.A.F.'s Paris raids with a swift but sharp night attack on Norfolk, but a British communique said these retaliations were inflicted deliberately on the theory that every ounce of force expended against Britain is an aid to Russia.

Today's dogfights, reminiscent of the Autumn of 1940, were fought out at about 25,000 feet. Watchers at Polesden followed the combats by the twisting skeins of exhaust vapors that marked the wide expanse of sky.

Police Commission Members Satisfied As Probe Proceeds

Commissioners W. H. Davies and D. D. McTavish Fail to See How John Blair Creagh Could Have Received Fatal Injuries in Taxi

POLICE commissioners are satisfied that Chief J. A. McLellan and members of the force are investigating circumstances surrounding the death of John Blair Creagh, it was revealed at a meeting yesterday afternoon. Creagh was found dead, presumably from serious head injuries, in his taxi fifty feet off the road near the intersection of Alston and Langford Streets early last Saturday morning.

Attention was given by the commission to a petition from members of National Drivers' Union, Local No. 1, expressing dissatisfaction with a verdict of accidental death rendered by a coroner's jury on Monday. Petitioners asked for a thorough investigation, expressed an opinion that Creagh met his death by means other than accident, and pointed out an inquest before Dr. E. C. Hart left many important questions unanswered.

Commissioner W. H. Davies stated, "I have examined the point where the taxi is believed to have left the road and the spot where it was found in the bushes, and I do not see how the man could have sustained fatal injuries in the machine by driving off the highway."

URGES ACTION
Commissioner D. D. McTavish added, "The police department should follow this up as far as possible. I was unable to find any signs of excessive speed. The taxi may have rolled gently down the incline."

"I do not think police have fallen down on the job. It is unfortunate they have not been able to locate the man who was picked up by Creagh on his last trip," Mayor Andrew McGavin, chairman, asserted.

"We have some matters that cannot be made public at this point," Chief McLellan declared. "The Col-of course it could if it seemed it advisable to engage outside help to assist the police. For instance, Inspector J. P. C. Vance or any other expert could be brought in for that purpose."

VISIT SCENE

Members of the commission accompanied by Detectives Henry P. Jarvis, David Donaldson and Louis Callon and Constable Thomas Banister made a thorough examination was found containing his lifeless body. Jarvis expounded a theory that the taxi left the road at a high rate of speed, and Creagh sustained fatal head injuries against a door handle when the machine careened through the bushes and over some smooth rocks.

SAYS RUSSIA MUST SMASH INVADERS

"SPARE NO BULLETS"

He ordered fighting branches of the Red Army to master their weapons to perfection; told army commanders to become military assistants; and said that the Russians in leading their armies to make 1942 the year of the final defeat of the German Fascists, and instructed men and women guerrillas to wipe out the staff and equipment of the enemy in the rear and "to spare no bullets against the invaders of our Fatherland."

Stalin told his people that Britain and the United States are "giving our country more and more military assistance" against the Fascist invaders; and that the Red Army had forced the Fascists to "clear out of a considerable part of Soviet territory."

HELPING RUSSIA

The Russian Premier-Detention Commissioner declared that Britain and the United States occupy first place among the freedom-loving countries helping Russia against the invaders, and said that the Russians are connected with those two Allies "by ties of friendship and unity."

It was his first order of the day since February 23, the twenty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the Red Army, when he confidently declared that the German invaders would be cast from Soviet soil in due time, but warned that a "stern struggle" lay ahead.

ARMIES STRONGER

After more than ten months of war, he said, Russia has become considerably stronger, the Red Army has become more organized and more powerful than it was at the beginning of the conflict, and had "passed from the defence to a successful advance against the enemy troops."

"Hitlerite imperialism has occupied wide territories in Europe," Stalin declared. "But it has not broken the will to resistance of European peoples."

"The struggle of enslaved peoples against the regime of the German Fascist robbers has begun to take on a general character in all occupied countries... murders of German soldiers and officers have become a general feature."

THE WINTER WAR

Speaking of the winter war, when the Red Army struck unceasingly against the Germans in one of the coldest seasons in decades, Stalin said that the calculation of the invader to rest during the winter and strengthen his defence lines "has suffered a fiasco."

"In the course of their advance," he said, "the Red Army had destroyed a huge quantity of enemy manpower and equipment, captured from the enemy a considerable amount of military equipment, and forced them to expend their resources taken from the deep rear before their time."

In the order of the day, Stalin greeted "comrades Red Army and navy men, commanders and political instructors, men and women guerrilla fighters, men and women workers, men and women peasants, people of the intellectual professions, brothers and sisters on the other side of the front in the rear of the German Fascist armies temporarily under the yoke of the German invaders."

AFFECTS ALL LIVES

Stalin said the war has affected all aspects of Russia's life, and that the working people of the country "in consideration of the conditions of war have refused to take their holiday rest in order to give their day over to energetic work for the defence of our Fatherland."

"Events in close unity with the men of our front," he said, "they have turned the holiday of the first of May into a day of labor and struggle in order to give maximum aid to the front and give it more rifles, machine guns, mortars, tanks, planes, military supplies, meat, fish and vegetables."

"This means that the front and rear form a united and inseparable military front in our country that is ready to overcome all difficulties in the war to victory over the enemy."

The Russian Premier-Detention Commissioner charged that Hitler, Goering, Ribbentrop and Heinrich Himmler and other rulers of present-day Germany "are watchdogs of the German bankers, placing the interests of the latter above all other interests."

FOR GERMAN BANKERS

"The German army," he added, "in the hands of these masters is a blind weapon called upon to spill their own and other people's blood and cripple themselves and others not for the sake of the interests of Germany, but for the enrichment of German bankers and plutocrats."

He called the German army an "army of medieval darkness, called upon to destroy European culture in order to institute the slave-driven culture of German bankers and barons."

The Russian leader said Fascist Germany and her army had become weaker during the ten months of the Russian-German war.

"The war has brought to the German people great disappointment, millions of human lives sacrificed, hunger and impoverishment," he said.

"No end can be seen to the war and human reserves are at their end."

"Oil is at an end."

"Raw materials are at their end."

"Among the German people recognition of the inevitability of Germany's defeat is growing."

"For the German people it becomes clearer and clearer that the only way out of this situation is the liberation of Germany from the adventurous clique of Hitler and Goering."

The Premier listed three separate counts on which he said the experience of war had exposed the "face of our enemy" to the world.

He declared that the German Fascists are said to be "nationalists who are defending the integrity and independence of Germany from attacks of other countries."

"This of course is a lie. In actual fact the German Fascists are not nationalists, but imperialists who seized other countries and sucked their blood out of them in order to enrich German bankers and plutocrats."

NOT SOCIALISTS

"It is said," he declared in turning to the second front, "that the German Fascists are Socialists, who are trying to defend the interests of the working people and peasants against the plutocrats."

"This of course is a lie. In actual fact the German Fascists are reactionaries and slave drivers, and the German army of serfs is spilling their blood for the enrichment of German barons and for restoration of the power of landowners."

On the third count, he said:

"It is said that the German Fascists are bearers of 'European culture leading the struggle' for spreading this culture into other countries."

"This of course is a lie. In actual fact the German Fascists are enemies of European culture."

rubber and air engine plants at Gennevilliers ten miles from the heart of Paris, was the fifth on the Paris region in less than two months of the campaign to wipe out the factories which the Germans have forced to turn out Nazi war materials.

The Air Ministry said German anti-aircraft defences were stronger than when the Gnome-Rhone works was raided April 5 and 6, but that the British bombers went in low and left large fires burning at both places. The Germans admitted considerable damage to buildings.

The R.A.F. lost six planes in that attack and in other raids on the Ostend docks and on airbases in the Low Countries.

1300 TONS DROPPED

The Air Ministry's new service said the German reprisals against Britain were comparatively ineffective, only 150 bombers having been used in the past six nights of raids on Berlin, Bath, York and Norwich, and a total of less than 225 tons of bombs having been dropped. This compared with more than 1300 tons of British bombs dropped on Germany alone on the same nights.

The Germans have lost seventeen bombers to British knowledge, and "probably more," it was said, while the R.A.F. has lost forty "in its longer-range and much more extensive operations."

The British commentator said that, while accepting the German retaliatory raids, the R.A.F. would hurl heavier and heavier ruinous attacks at many more cities of the same type that have recently laid waste to Rostock and Luebeck, important German Baltic ports.

In addition, he said the British are exerting their utmost efforts to send thousands of planes and tanks to reinforce Russia, and these supplies are moving in the most heavily-guarded convoys of all time.

LOOSE GOSSIP UNDER ATTACK

Tight Lips Will Save Lives. Naval Officer Tells Kinsmen Club

Careless talk by the general public assists the enemy by disclosing information of interest to his intelligence service, providing a clue to his source and telling his agents whether or not events of military significance are about to happen or have already occurred, Lieut. M. Armstrong, R.C.N.V.R., told members of the Victoria Kinsmen Club at the dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel last night.

"We hope to 'sell' the idea of silence to Kinsmen and to other service clubs," Lieut. Armstrong said. "The movement of ships, troops, planes or manpower presents a picture of the scheme of things as a whole."

"We have among us the skillful, highly trained, well-educated enemy agent who rubs shoulders with him and we don't know who he is. There are many who are willing to sell information to the enemy, and there are those who have access to confidential information who are careless of their positions of trust."

RELEASES PROPAGANDA
Military information which is rigidly censored "press would not dare to print is 'banded around through careless talk,' the speaker declared, adding that loose gossip deliberately releases enemy propaganda which serves to divide us."

Lieut. Armstrong showed how scraps of apparently insignificant information were fitted by enemy agents into a mosaic of fact which provided the Axis Powers with a complete picture of Canada's total war effort.

"There is no doubt in the world that this type of information gets back to the enemy," the speaker declared.

"Shipbuilders know the armament, speed and vital equipment of the ships they build. When a ship is damaged at sea or equipment is hit in action, those repairing it know the details of the damage. That type of information gets around, for the enemy is anxious to know of structural defects."

"In one week, we found that 95 per cent of the ships at Victoria had been photographed. Most of the commercial fishing firms, God bless them, turned the prints over to the intelligence services."

ARE NATURALLY CURIOUS

By their very nature, Lieut. Armstrong said, Canadians are seekers after information.

"We are not trying to discourage open, honest discussion of any subject, but if you know vital information, it should not be passed on. When two people know a secret, it does not remain a secret very long. We are trying to get everyone to join a campaign of silence."

"The checking of careless talk may save the lives not only of those dear to you but also the lives of hundreds of others. If we can bring home to ourselves the results of careless talk, we can make a tremendous stride forward in checking it on this coast," Lieut. Armstrong concluded.

Russell Park reported upon the fact the Kinsmen Club is expected to play in the presentation of the forthcoming United Nations Victory Fair at the Crystal Garden.

PROMINENT LAKE RESIDENT PASSES

Mrs. Florence Evelyn Ed Dels, Shownigan Lake, Dies Suddenly on Wednesday at Her Home

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, April 30.—Mrs. Florence Evelyn Ed Dels, fifty-seven, well-known Shownigan Lake resident, died suddenly at home here Wednesday.

Mrs. Ed Dels was born in London, England. She came to British Columbia in 1925, and settled at Shownigan Lake with her family in 1934.

During the past eight years she had been a prominent worker in Shownigan Lake community affairs, gaining a wide circle of friends. For several years she was the secretary of the Shownigan Lake Athletic Association, and a few years ago, she successfully directed a dramatic club, with a talent reflecting her earlier theatrical career in England.

She is survived by her husband, William F. S. Ed Dels, Shownigan; one son, Ernest Clarence, in England; two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Rieker, Sprout Lake, and Evelyn May Ed Dels, Shownigan.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday, at 2 p.m., in St. John's Anglican Church, Cobble Hill.

Reserve Units Will Be Given Practical Summer Camp Drill

Modern Manoeuvres, Adaptable to Rugged Country Are Planned, Says Col. A. W. Sparling—Now Well Supplied With Weapons and Equipment

RESERVE army units in British Columbia will carry out modern-type manoeuvres in their Summer camp training this year, Col. A. W. Sparling, D.S.O., Vancouver, O.C. the 39th (Reserve) Infantry Brigade Group, said in an interview yesterday.

Col. Sparling indicated that training will be planned on practical lines, and special attention will be given to manoeuvres adaptable to the rugged and diversified terrain of this province. At the same time, he explained, the training will be in keeping with the state of efficiency reached in preliminary training.

PROGRESSIVE TRAINING

"Training will be streamlined and progressive," he said. "Recruits, naturally, will have to start at the beginning; others, who have experience, will be put in classes of instruction in accordance with their knowledge."

In the two weeks' training plan, which affects four units in this area, a wide variety of tactics will be explained, including repulsing beach landings, guarding, defending and destroying railroad bridges, use of anti-tank mines in destroying enemy armored equipment.

REQUIREMENTS ISSUED

Col. Sparling said that weapons in excess of training requirements have been supplied to all units of the Reserve Brigade Group. In the case of rifles, revolvers, Lewis guns and "Tommy" guns, full fighting requirements have been issued. In addition, boots, clothing, helmets and gas masks for the authorized strength of all units are on hand.

"There are now more weapons and clothing than there are men to carry and wear them," Col. Sparling asserted.

Asked if there will be any opportunity for brigade training, or combination of more than one unit or type of unit, Col. Sparling said it is not considered that training as a brigade can be carried out, effectively at camp this year.

"Men get better training by working in section, platoon and company schemes, where they have the opportunity of knowing what is going on, and the reason for it," he explained.

STRUCK BY STREET CAR

VANCOUVER, April 30 (CP).—Gertrude Johnston, about twenty, suffered severe head injuries when struck by a street car in a suburban Vancouver district tonight. Hospital attendants report her condition as "only fair."

FORCES SPLIT BY FALL OF LASHIO

along the Burma Road before Lashio's collapse, had been put to the torch; the entire city was reported on fire.

On the allied right, the British position below Mandalay was left untenable, and it was believed General Sir Arthur Alexander undoubtedly was falling back to the north along the Irrawaddy River.

Far south of the main battle area about Lashio, a small Chinese force was attacking to the east from the region of Taunggyi against the enemy's rear communications; but it was pointed out by a Chinese spokesman that so fluid was the situation, and so powerful were the enemy forces, that this thrust could not be depended upon to make any material change.

IN ANOTHER SECTOR

Another Chinese force was engaging rearward Japanese forces about Pyawbwe, eighty-five miles south of Mandalay.

The Chinese spokesman said the Chinese would be forced to abandon positional warfare, but would resort to mobile war "to carry out their mission in Burma."

"I wish solemnly to state that whatever the developments until the enemy is driven out, Chinese troops will remain in Burma and continue their resistance," he said. "This not only is the determination of the High Command but of every Chinese officer and man now fighting in Burma."

PLUMBING AND HEATING POINTERS by CRANE

HERE'S THE REASON FOREIGN WASTE MATERIAL BLOCKS YOUR TOILET BOWL

ALWAYS KEEP A WASTE-BASKET HANDY IN THE BATHROOM. WASTE MATERIAL HERE PREVENTS TROUBLE IN THE TRAPWAY CAUSED BY WRAPPING PAPER, CANNONS, MATCHES, ETC.

BLOCKAGES will not only cause you inconvenience—they may also result in overflow and damage to walls and ceilings on lower floors. ALSO—bad blockages may require complete removal of the bowl, and no matter how careful the plumber may be, it may get broken. IT MAY BE HARD TO GET A REPLACEMENT PROMPTLY!

Experts Will Check Inventor's Claim to New Rubber Process

Glass Laboratory to Be Set Up for Tests—Ingredients Said to Consist of Natural Gas, Grain, Woodpulp or Coal

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP).—Within a week or two, United States Government experts will crowd into a little glass laboratory not far from Washington and demand a showdown from a man who says he can make rubber from natural gas, grain and either woodpulp or coal.

For weeks, harried by the critical rubber situation, the experts have been checking into the inventor's claims, testing his product, attempting to analyze it, and losing sleep over its mysteries. Not even today will any of the Government men pass official judgment. The inventor's name is not released for publication.

It's the consensus, that there's never been any material quite like it—except rubber—itsself. Known synthetic rubber reactions are mis-would build a small model production plant—of glass, for reasons of economy—and arrange for the show-down.

The inventor hasn't held out for millions of dollars. His reasons for moving so cautiously, he says, involve fears of a "run-around"—the process has not been patented, he says. Armed men have ransacked his office and threatened him, and a protective police guard has been assigned to his family.

If the tests in the glass laboratory add dryly, the inventor and his process will become a military secret so fast his head will swim. Plus armed guards, spy-traps and all the fixins.

SPENDING TO BE EXAMINED

much secrecy about war matters. Mr. Thorson said the Canadian Government had given the House of Commons more information than the British Government had given. The British Government had asked the Canadian Government to give less information.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the committee was too small and "too unrepresentative" to be the voice of the people. He suggested the committee should be equalized as to political affiliations, and that it be enlarged so there could be more sub-committees.

Mr. Diefenbaker also urged that evidence taken at all meetings be available to the House of Commons, except when the committee was of the opinion such use of the evidence would not be in the public interest. "Secrecy in conducting this Parliament before the people," he said, "The public has a right to know something wrong. The Government has never made an admission of any shortcomings."

There was a growing desire upon the part of the Government to "treat Parliament as a body convened only for the purpose of voting supply." He asked if members were to be looked upon as "voiceless vassals" of the Government.

"HEARSAY EVIDENCE"
C. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River) asserted tonight that several large industries were deliberately slowing down production and suggested that Government delays contributed to this situation.

He was challenged by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to make specific charges of production slowdown due to Government action.

Mr. Johnston said that if Mr. Johnston would make specific charges he would appoint a committee to investigate them. He said Mr. Johnston was condemning the Government and the war effort "on hearsay evidence."

Mr. Johnston said the people were being misled by Government statements into a belief that war industries were running at full capacity while many plants were working only part time.

"When you have a situation like that what is the use of talking about an all-out war effort," Mr. Johnston exclaimed.

SHORTAGE OF STEEL
"The Minister of Munitions and Supply tells us that there is a shortage of steel," he continued, "I do not believe that. The rolling mill in Calgary quits at 5 o'clock every afternoon and the manager there told me they could produce three times as much steel as they are making."

Mr. Johnston said he had been told by the president of the Ottawa Car & Aircraft Company that that company was working on airplanes without any order from the Government, keeping the plant going in the hope that orders would materialize.

When he had asked in the House some time ago when 500 men laid off by this company would be re-employed the reply of the Government was that it did not know.

When he had asked what plants in Canada were working twenty-four hours a day 365 days a year on war work he had received the same answer.

Mr. Johnston discussed the oil and gasoline shortage and contended that the Alberta tar sands could be developed to produce oil and gasoline as cheaply as it now is being produced with the by-products alone paying for the gasoline.

Decoration for Late Air Chief

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP).—Award of a Distinguished Service Medal to Brig.-Gen. Harold H. George, who met death in an air crash in the Southwest Pacific, was announced today by the War Department.

The award was announced in a communique which reported the death of the former chief of staff of the Far Eastern Air Force.

The D.S.C. was awarded posthumously with a citation of Gen. George's "exceptionally meritorious service to the Government in a position of great responsibility."

Declares Germany Is Losing Morale

LONDON, April 30 (AP).—Germany is fast losing "moral strength," but the moral strength of the United Nations is "growing daily," Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of the Netherlands declared today at a celebration in honor of Crown Prince Juliana's birthday.

The Prime Minister said this was the most significant revelation of the recent Hitler speech.

VANCOUVER, April 30 (CP).—A man identified as J. C. Gurn died today when he fell or jumped from the centre span of Granville Street Bridge into the waters of False Creek. A fire department helicopter crew worked over the body for some time without success.

Where British Bombers Pound Nazis

This map shows the German and French targets of swarms of huge British bombers in the Royal Air Force's greatest offensive of the war. Rostock, Baltic port and German aircraft manufacturing centre, was the principal target of the British skyriders. Tons of bombs were dropped on the Skoda munition works at Pilsen, Bohemia. In Occupied France, Dunkerque and Calais were bombed by the R.A.F. In return, Nazi planes struck at England's southern coast, Bath and Norwich.

Small Papers, Less News for Britisher; Rationing Is Cause

Four, Six and Eight-Page Editions Now General in London—Prospective Subscribers Have to Wait Months—Circulation Restricted

LONDON, April 30 (CP).—Problems of the newspaper circulation manager have been tossed into reverse in Britain. Today it is not a question of selling as many papers as possible but rather one of selling only a certain number at a time of unprecedented demand.

The country is news hungry. But since the war started, newspaper supplies have been sharply curtailed and as recently as mid-March came a further 10 per cent reduction to save additional shipping space on the trans-Atlantic freighter routes.

This means a consumption of only 4,350 long tons of newsprint a week in Britain compared with 23,000 in every pre-war week. Since mid-March there have been 1,500,000 fewer newspaper copies each week.

SMALLER EDITIONS
The average London national daily which before the war contained sixteen to twenty-four pages, now has a four-page issue. Sunday papers, formerly twenty to thirty-four pages, come out with six or eight-page editions.

Some papers, notably The Times, Daily Telegraph, The Manchester Guardian, The Scotsman and The Glasgow Herald, are allowed to publish larger issues. They are among the higher-priced papers and carry a large amount of classified advertising, regarded, even in wartime, as a public service. The Times and the Manchester Guardian vary from eight to ten pages.

CUT SPORT PAGES
Within their few pages newspapers publish virtually all the war news on a tightly edited basis, the ordinary domestic news, well-trimmed, and as much advertising as possible. For the most part crime news has been sliced to slender proportions; features likewise, though the feature news story remains important. Sport pages in many cases have become just odd columns.

Still, however, papers manage to give readers much of the old fare in the way of crossword puzzles, short stories (very short now), little chunks of humor, astrologists' predictions and garden hints. There's still room too for the letters-to-the-editor department.

COST OF NEWSPRINT
From 1929 to 1939 was a period of prosperity and expansion for the British press, but now rationed newsprint, restricted advertising and controlled circulations dictate contraction for an industry paying £26 ($117) per long ton for newsprint which cost £11 ($45) before the war.

The Government fixes the newsprint tonnage available and newspapers themselves, having formed a co-operative concern called Newsprint Supply Company, make it go round.

Contrary to the wartime trend London's Daily Express, which achieved a peacetime circulation of a little above 2,000,000, sold nearly 2,500,000 copies daily by using newsprint 12 1/2 per cent lighter than pre-war stock. The March supply reduction reduced this top figure by 10 per cent. On the other hand Daily Telegraph circulation just before the war started was almost 1,000,000 and voluntary restriction cut this to 650,000.

Almost all papers no longer allow news agents to return unsold copies so their purchases are held to a minimum. Would-be readers, wishing regular deliveries, may have to wait three weeks or a month until some subscriber cancels an order. There is no such thing as a house-to-house canvasser any more.

Government advertising takes up much of the available advertising space for such things as national savings campaigns and hints on how best to get along on food rationing. Many manufacturers, concentrating on war work, no longer need advertising space, but at the same time many commercial firms snap up what space they can get to advertise a product which they inform the reader is the best ever, even if it won't be available again until after the war.

That's called "prestige" advertising. By and large newspapers advertising rates have jumped 30 to 40 per cent since 1939.

BARCELONA REGION VISITED BY FLOOD

MADRID, April 30 (AP).—Seven thousand residents of the Barcelona region were driven from their homes today by floodwaters of the Llobregat and Besos Rivers. Large residential and vegetable farming districts, parts of Barcelona, Hospitalet, Prat and Port Pedralbes are under water.

EIGHTEEN NORWEGIANS EXECUTED BY GERMANS

STOCKHOLM, April 30 (AP).—German firing squads today shot eighteen Norwegians who, the occupying authorities announced, renounced their homeland from England with explosives and other weapons and killed two German security police on a coastal island last Sunday.

The eighteen had intended to return to England, advised from Oslo said.

SIRENS ONLY RAID WARNING

New Regulations Supersede Victoria's Whistle System For Blackouts

Air-raid warnings in Victoria in future will be sounded by sirens only, and when they sound it will definitely be a raid warning.

The Lighting and Blackout Regulations published yesterday by Premier John Hart supersede Victoria's present system of whistles, making the sirens the only official raid warning to be sounded here at any time, the provincial civilian protection office said last night.

NEXT WARNING REAL
The next blackout that comes to Victoria, therefore, will be the real thing, and will not be heralded by press and radio announcements.

Sirens will sound five minutes on a steady and continuous note to announce a "precautionary blackout," and for an "imminent danger blackout," will sound five minutes on a fluctuating note.

PERPETUAL BLACKOUT
Inaccessible areas in British Columbia west of the Cascade Range are plunged into a perpetual blackout under the new regulations.

The regulation requires that such isolated communities, such as Bella Bella, and on islands in the Gulf must blackout their homes each night from one-half hour after sunset until one-half hour before sunrise. The regulation does not affect such islands or places where telephone or telegraph communication is established.

Limit Shipment Of Tea, Coffee In Troop Gifts

Gift shipments of tea or coffee sent to soldiers overseas now must not weigh more than five pounds, according to new regulations of the Department of Trade and Commerce received here yesterday.

but there was no restriction on the amount of any commodity contained in them.

Under recent departmental order, tea and coffee shipments of more than five pounds required an export permit.

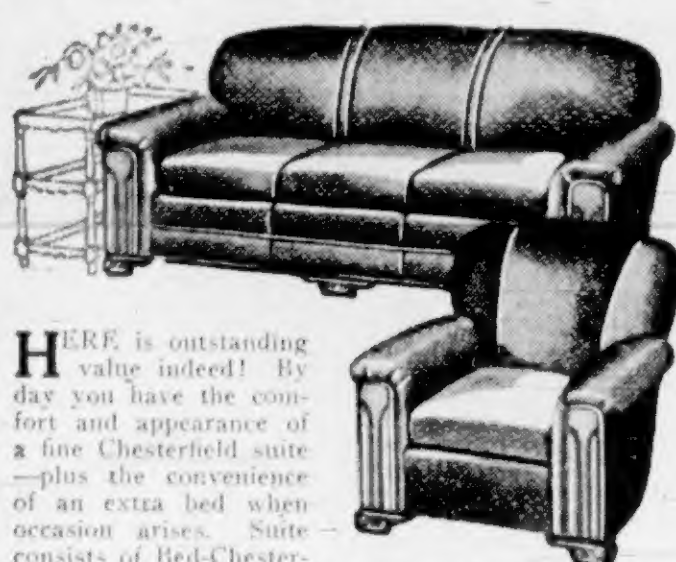

Department officials have announced the restriction also applies to parcels sent to the troops.

The order has no effect on gift shipments to civilians overseas, since these parcels must not exceed five pounds in weight and must not contain more than two pounds of any one foodstuff.

THE SPIRIT OF VICTORY

"Complacency is catching, and our need at this time is not merely to prevent the spread of complacency. Our need, our instant need, is to eradicate it completely from public and private life." If there is in any sense the need of such a warning, which comes from a British newspaper to the British people, how much more does it apply to this country. After all the British people have taken up their unprecedented sacrifices unflinchingly. Here in Canada we have hardly touched the fringe of sacrifice at all; that is to say the civilian population has not touched it. Most, if not all, of what sacrifice there is must be assigned to the men of the Services who have volunteered, who have been inspired with that sense of duty that has meant they have given up much to fight for their country.

In Canada the style and the tempo of life have hardly altered at all because of war. Cocktail parties are as rife as they ever were; possibly there are even more of them. This country in that respect has learned no lesson from the complacency of the white population of Singapore, from its pursuit of pleasure while the enemy advanced upon it with inexorable purpose. Here, too, there is, and again outside the Services, the seeming purpose of watching the war from a grandstand. Life, it is felt, must go on as usual in these most unusual times. Husky civilian sportsmen, of the very fibre of which great soldiers and sailors and airmen are made, continue to pursue their competitive games and thousands watch and acclaim them, apparently quite unconcerned that such athletes should voluntarily immerse themselves from the vital task of the time. There is business as of yore; there is lack, in many senses, what has been described as "that uplifting of the spirit which leadership in the grand manner can communicate."

In December, 1915, during the course of the Great War, Mr. Lloyd George uttered the following words in the British House of Commons: "Ah, two fatal words of this war! Too late in moving here. Too late in arriving there. Too late in coming to this decision. Too late in starting with enterprises. Too late in preparing. In this war the footsteps of the Allied Forces have been dogged by the mocking spectre of 'Too Late!' . . . I beg employers and workmen not to let 'Too Late' be inscribed on the portals of their workshops." The experiences, in many respects, have been the same in this war. The intervention in Norway was too late; in Greece, in Crete it was too late as well. Malaya, with its naval base of Singapore, fell because of lack of purposeful preparation. Over and over again the lesson has been "too little and too late." Now what must be thrown overboard for the duration is that complacency which has hampered and which still hampers war effort. Even in Great Britain, with all it has done and all it is doing, there is a new call coming from the Press for greater efforts for more consolidated purpose, for a reawakened realization of the nature of the struggle that is upon mankind. Perhaps the best summary of what is wanted is found in the editorial columns of The Yorkshire Post. It says:

"We have come tardily to recognize that nothing less than a revolution in our traditional ways of life is required to gear us up for victory. No less necessary is a revolution in our traditional ways of thought. We are burdened by our own prosperous and successful past. Our enemies are fighting their way up from situations of inferiority. They have no luggage of easy-going complacency to lose. We should have none either, at this stage; but we still have some. We are still inclined to repeat that comforting but very dangerous incantation, 'It will all come right in the end.' It can all come right; we have the resources to make certain that it all comes right. But no contented reliance on old habits and methods will avail. In our glorious days we were repeatedly first in the field with new inventions, new tactics, new pioneering adventures by land and sea. That is the spirit, the spirit which is always pressing on towards new horizons, which in the ardour of its faith burns away all conventional objections and obstacles in its path, that must be reawakened in Britain now."

WORDS OF WAR

There are two words that have been introduced definitely into the English language during the present war. One is "quishing," which the British Press made infamous but permanent; the other is "blitz," which is a contraction of the German "blitzkrieg" and which the Nazis themselves deserve the credit for having put in the English dictionary. "Quishing" now ranks with "boycolt" in unenviable notoriety. As to "blitz," no war of the future will be fought without that word serving to describe one of its features. Apart from these two new words the present war has not been productive of much in a philological sense. It is true there is an argot of the Royal Air Force which is rich indeed in out-of-the-way terms but not many of the new words used, or the new meanings given to existing words, are likely to find their way to the dictionary.

It is recalled by The Irish Independent of Dublin that the Boer War, comparatively unimportant as it was, put "mafficking" into general circulation and gave "stellenbosch" the honor of mention in the dictionary. The Great War produced such words as "Dora," with a new meaning, "napoo," "strafe" and "camouflage" and all these, perhaps with the exception of "Dora," still retain wide currency. The Irish Independent, however, thinks this war is somewhat sterile in the production of words. It says: "The developments are chronicled by means of threadbare and outworn similes of the past. We speak of wings, flights and waves of aircraft, infiltration of infantry, breaking-through of tanks and wolf-packing of submarines. Yet in all these and many similar cases there is need for a new expressive word to describe a new concept. It would, however, be unjust to the anonymous word-makers of the present war not to mention a word that has surely come to stay, though it is to be hoped only as a memory. Those who have lived through the dread experience will never forget the realities of a "blitz."

LATENT WOMAN-POWER

In Great Britain there is a reserve of woman-power among housewives that is estimated at 11,000,000 and it is now being brought home to these women that "their service is essential to the country." The idea is that those of them who can should engage in some form of war production, and ways and means are being discussed to find what are described as "suitable and satisfying channels for this latent power." Mrs. Priscilla Norman, who is acting chairman of the Women's Group of Public Welfare, has been discussing this subject. She says that in the last two and a half years the members of that group have learned to pool their experience and combine their efforts in trying to solve questions, "ranging from the care of children under five to assisting the Ministry of Food in the organization of an urban fruit preservation scheme." Some of what is being done in this way was related to a Victoria audience a few weeks ago by Miss Margaret Bondfield, who is the chairman of the group. Now it is realized that, with a shortage of available workers to increase the war effort, something must be done to enlist the aid of whatever percentage of housewives can be made available. Mrs. Norman says of this:

"There is need for a sustained campaign on a big scale if a 'united spirit of service' is to be achieved and conviction attained of the national need for every woman's service. There must be more imagination in presenting this need and in relating it to every department of life, till the simplest actions of everyday living are seen as vital parts of the whole effort. How this sense of need and urgency may be aroused and the resulting release of power rightly and swiftly used requires more than one answer. This group will welcome suggestions on this, in the hope that its potential usefulness as a means of effective action can be further developed."

PARLIAMENTARY TALKATIVENESS

Mr. Blackmore, the leader of the New Democrats in the House of Commons, criticizes those who say that members talk too much. "What else," he asks, "is there a member of Parliament can do but talk. What is he sent here for but to talk?" There are some Old Democrats who believe that Parliament can be a forum of action as well as one of debate. In any case it is not the fact of talking, when there is something to be said, that is complained of but it is the long-windedness, the weary dragging out of debates and the prosaic utterances of most of the members. The very least that is expected of them, to save time and money, is the practice of the art of condensation in the spoken word. Let them make a study of this and there will not be such a hotch-potch of talk. There is a proverb, for what it is worth, that "long talk makes short work," and there is some evidence that such is the case at Ottawa. At least Mr. Blackmore and quite a considerable percentage of the other members might have pity on the men who compile Hansard, and, incidentally, on their fellow-members and those who frequent the galleries of the House of Commons. To anyone afflicted with cacophonous loquacity the words of Martial can well be recalled: "Unmerciful man, do at last take pity on us, and at length hold your peace; or if that tongue of yours cannot keep quiet, tell us for once something that we want to hear."

TRONDHEIM

If the Stockholm story is true that the civilian population has evacuated Trondheim now would seem to be the time for the Royal Air Force to make that port untenable as a naval base. It is true there are many nights, even at this time of the year, when visibility over the North Sea is poor, but the fact of German warships and naval installations have been concentrated at Trondheim makes it a target which doubtless will be attacked again and again when conditions are right. No claims have so far been made that any of the German warships based there have been hit. There may be purposeful silence in this respect, because it must be remembered that claims were made again and again of damage inflicted on the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau while those vessels were at Brest, and yet ultimately they ran the gauntlet of the English Channel when they were supposed not to be seaworthy. An experience of this kind is the best monitor of how there should be the most conservative estimate of any damage wrought by aerial attack. It can never be known fully by the attacking force, and therefore, more often than not, it is better to minimize rather than magnify any claims made.

"Anne of Green Gables," seems an old, in fact a very old story, yet it only dates back to 1908. Its author, Mrs. Ewan Macdonald, better known as L. M. Montgomery, has just died. She wrote in all fourteen stories of the "Anne" series, but none of them attained such a wide popularity as the first. That is a girl's story which will continue to be read for many decades to come.

The people of Southern California should be well on their toes in the matter of air alerts. The noise of an airplane motor, until its identity is established, sets the sirens wailing.

WE WILL SPEAK OUT

We will speak out, we will be heard. Though all earth's systems crack, We will not budge a single word. Nor take a letter back. Let traitors turn away, Let cowards shrink. Whatever we have dared to think, That date we also say. We speak the truth, and what care we For hoisting and for scorn, While some faint dreamers we can see Of Freedom's coming morn. —James Russell Lowell.

THE OLD STOIC

Riches I hold in light esteem, And Love I laugh to scorn; And just of Fame was but a dream, That vanished with the morn: And if I pray, the only prayer That moves my lips for me Is: 'Leave the heart that now I bear, And give me Peace.' Yes, as my spirit dwells near their goal, The all that I implore— In life and death a chaste soul, With courage to endure. —Emily Bronte.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Motoring was not alone one of the most expensive but also one of the most dangerous pursuits in British Columbia last year. It killed 129 men, women and children; injured 3,227 individuals, and wasted $790,321 worth of physical property in 6,799 reported accidents, affecting 11,026 vehicles. It is fair to add that 132,078 automobiles were on the roads of the province, and that 90 per cent of them were not in any reported accident. The damage was confined to 12 per cent of the vehicles, and perhaps to 8 per cent of the drivers. That, however, is only the superficial report compiled by the Provincial Police from reported instances.

There is much to be added. Insurance companies paid out several million dollars in automobile insurance, public liability and property damage, plate glass, third party liability, and in many other forms, not including accident insurance directly. That would be difficult to ascertain, for even the reported facts do not cover the whole of the case. Many a driver enjoyed an accident privately, damaging his or her own car, and paying for the bill secretly without as much as telling the family. Sometimes, no doubt, it went down as traveling expenses, where it would be very difficult to trace.

The point is that it happened. Moreover, it happened in an age when every direct intersection is fairly clearly marked; when stop-and-go signs clutter up every business corner; when highway patrols are constantly on the road, and when warning signs are strewn like daily-chains all over the highways. If you take the trouble to examine the reports, you will discover how it happened. The most common excuse given to police magistrates in court cases was "hurry." Hurry at the rush hours of the day, in clear weather and with good light on the accidents than any other single cause. Hurry operated at crawling paces in cities, and along country roads where the name given to it was speed. It was more often hurry of the mind, if one may call it so, than speed in the vehicle, though speed for the sake of speed contributed its quota.

To read the reports one would believe poets left their beds at the roadside, and danced in the centre of the broad highway; that one-legged men deliberately stepped off the curb and dodged at breakneck pace through moving traffic. Seldom, if ever, was the driver admittedly at fault. And yet the accidents happened. They happened to men alone in their cars, on a perfectly open and otherwise unused road. They happened to trios in the front seat, in the midst of quasi-traffic jams. They happened with vehicles in all states of gear, including reverse. In a large proportion of the cases no pedestrians were to blame because there were no pedestrians there. Falling everything else, cars let go their brakes on hillsides and crashed into stone walls at the bottom. The bare record of the truth is beyond human relief.

Pedestrians, however, were not blameless. Many a car was wrecked to avert striking down individuals on foot. Some men were killed in their cars in this fashion. Pedestrians also did totally unbelievable things. They stepped out from between parked cars into a traffic-way. They started to cross a street, and then changed their minds and went back. They ran across roads without looking in any direction that could be detected. They walked and ran into parked vehicles. It was hurry of the mind with them, too.

Then, of course, there were the vehicles themselves. Mushy, some of them, bulky on the start, and headstrong on the stop. Some cast their lights too high, and blinded approaching traffic. Others had brake levers, but no brakes to mention. Many of them kept their accelerators too close to human feet, and got stepped upon at the wrong moment. All of them had weight, and many of them were dinned to change direction or pace in an orderly manner. Some of the vehicles even went out and did the direct opposite to what had been signalled by the hand of their drivers. Contrary, that's what they were. And what blame can attach to the driver of a mushy car?

Looking at the written record, however, it would appear that motoring was our most dangerous pursuit in British Columbia last year. The casualties exceeded logging, mining, fishing and picknicking by far. It accounted for 129 deaths, 3,227 persons injured, and property damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, and when you ask why it happened, you will be told that it occurred because too many people hurried at the wrong time. In short, the fences, the telephone posts, the physical appearance of the countryside were not to blame. It was the vehicles and those who were in them, or those who danced in front of them, on the open road. If you have any mind to laugh at a hen crossing the road, wait until you see a human being. That would be enough to make the hen laugh. Or so the record says.

The Observation Car

By G.E.

Note from R.H.T.: "I saw in your column a letter from some reader complaining that civilian motorists leaving Victoria via Quadra Street and driving towards Patricia Bay do not stop and pick up airmen who wait for lifts back to barracks. I understand if there is an accident, and such things do happen, the driver of the car is responsible for the pay of such servicemen injured sufficiently to keep them off duty and also payment of hospital expenses. There are enough airmen leaving Patricia Bay every evening to fill a bus or two. Could not the city force supply a vehicle, for the men surely earn such a privilege?"

According to legal advice the driver of an automobile is responsible for injuries sustained by his passenger or passengers only if it can be proved that his negligence caused such injuries. "Judging by last year's holiday on the Mainland," Bull, the Broad Street barber, remarked to a customer, "a Summer 'Pact' is often a place where you give up good dollars for poor quarters."

Broad Street Barber, also of Byng Street, has an enormous goldfish pond holding about 1,600 gallons of water. Several times last month he noticed A.R.P. wardens eyeing the miniature lake with interest and once heard one of them remark, "I think we could put out two or three fish with it." The Red Cross had an interesting report. It appears that Henri Dunant, born at Geneva in 1828, as a young man witnessed the hideous Battle of Solferino on June 24, 1858, in which 40,000 men were killed or wounded. No effort was made to remove the dead or alleviate the suffering of the wounded and dying. Dunant gathered together a group of women from neighboring towns and set them to work caring for the men. In 1862 he wrote a pamphlet on the horrors of the battle. On October 26, 1863, delegates from fourteen European Governments and seven societies were invited by Gustav Moynier, Geneva philanthropist, to discuss the pamphlet and means of assisting the wounded in battle. As an outcome the International Red Cross was founded on August 8, 1864. Choice of Geneva was made in deference to Switzerland. The Red Cross flag is the Swiss flag with colors reversed.

New Extradition Treaty Is Signed

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons yesterday a new treaty governing extradition of criminals was signed Wednesday by Canada and United States.

He said the treaty is subject to ratification and its terms will not be made public until arrangements are made for its presentation to the Senate of the United States.

The Seward Mill Property.—Although there are several minor details to be settled, the transfer of the Seward mill and timber lands to the Tacoma syndicate at an early date is a practically settled fact, and full details of the transaction will soon be made public.

An Evening With the Young People.—The Young People's Union of Calvary Baptist Church held their second meeting last night, when Messrs. Williams and Elliott gave a couple of sermons, criticized by Messrs. Marchant, Cleveland, Morrison and others. Mr. Western gave a solo, and others contributed to the general pleasure of the evening.

A Nasty Accident.—Yesterday afternoon, James McNaughton, an employee of Messrs. M. R. Smith & Son, at their cracker factory in James Bay, met with a very serious accident which may cost him his right hand. He was fixing some machinery when a revolving cog wheel caught his hand, crushing it and causing McNaughton to faint with pain. He was removed to the Jubilee Hospital, where his wound was attended to. At last advice he was resting quietly, and the doctors were hopeful of saving the injured member.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

HITLER AND NAPOLEON

Volumes could be written on the Hitler speech, but the most illuminating of these will be said in later columns. But my first comment on it will be to compare it with what Napoleon said under similar conditions in the year 1812.

Napoleon had been to Moscow and was back in Warsaw; he was not defeated, and neither were the Russians. He was, however, not only disappointed in Russia but worried about the home front, about the occupied countries of the Continent, and above all, about what the English might do. He did not know their plans.

In this mood he talked at length to General De Caulaincourt, a loyal supporter of the Emperor, who, however, had had the temerity to warn him that Europe was not behind him, however clearly it might seem to be; that only his armies were holding down rebellion; that the Russian campaign, as he, De Caulaincourt had predicted, had been a mistake.

Napoleon argued with De Caulaincourt and almost almost exactly the lines that Hitler used on Sunday.

About the English, Napoleon said: "The English have driven me to every step I have taken. If they had only made peace after Austerlitz, or after Tilsit, I would have been quiet. The people of Europe are blind to their real dangers. They see nothing but my armies, as though the English were not threatening them far more. Europe should think of only one enemy. That is the Russian colossus."

Hitler: "I do not know whether all Englishmen will today still consider it wise and enlightened action to have rejected all the efforts I made to obtain an understanding since 1933, or to reject the alliance I offered as late as September, 1939, and the peace I offered after the Polish and French campaigns. We all know that regarding the re-organization of the Continent, England promised a political doctrine that aimed at splitting the Continent for the welfare of the British Empire. . . . The battle in the East will be continued. The Bolshevik colossus will be hit until it is destroyed."

REASONS FOR DISASTER

About the reasons for the disaster on the Russian front—Napoleon: "It is the Winter that has been our undoing. We are victims of the climate. If I had only set out a fortnight sooner . . . I should not have stayed so long in Moscow. Everything turned out badly because I began my retreat too late."

Hitler: "A Winter was beginning to settle over the East such as had not been seen even in this part of Europe for over 140 years. Four weeks earlier than foreseen all operations came to a sudden stop. Right in the midst of our advance our front line soldiers could not stream back or stay in the posts occupied. Neither the German soldier, tank, or locomotive was prepared for the sudden onslaught of the cold."

About himself:

Napoleon: "I am not ambitious. Long nights, fatigue, war—I'm too old for that. I like my bed and rest as well as anyone. I only want to finish my work."

Hitler: "I myself have not claimed so much as three free days for myself since 1933. . . . I ask nothing more of the Almighty than that he should grant that I may live only so long as is necessary to see the fulfilment of the destiny of the German people."

Napoleon had something on his mind about which he talked to his confidant, Hitler has the same.

According to Culbertson

Many of the bids made by expert partnerships startle and even horrify the casual spectator. Yet, the fact remains that these bids may have been completely logical under the circumstances. Note the strange, but excellent, bid made by the South player in the following hand:

East dealer. Match point duplicate. North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
A 7
K Q 8 4
A J 7 2
K 8 4 3

EAST
K 10 9 6 5 2
A J 6 2
K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2

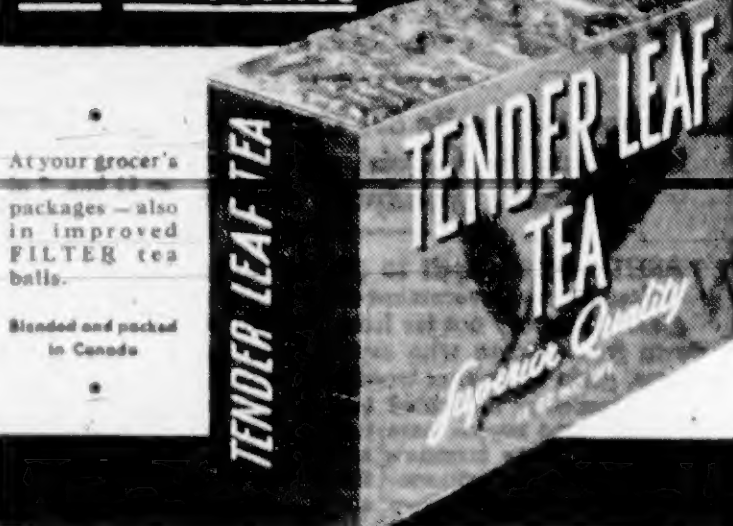

WEST
A Q J 4 3
A K 10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
A 7 6 5 4 3 2

SOUTH
K 8 5
K 10 8 3
K 10 8 2
A Q 6

The bidding:
East: South: West: North: 1.A: Pass 3.A: Double Pass 4.A: (final bid)

South, being vulnerable, had nothing like the values for an immediate overall nor for a take-out double. But when West raised to two spades and North made a take-out double over two bidders, South's hand took on quite a different complexion. Generally speaking, the double of one major suit strongly invites partner to mention the other major, and this particular North-South partnership makes a habit of stressing that understanding. Thus, when East passed to the double, South was sufficiently sure that North was well prepared for hearts thing on his mind, no doubt, and he mentioned it contemptuously in his speech. . . . The landing of the British "at night with blackened faces and rubber shoes."

What did Napoleon think about such possible landings?
"As it is I know where to look for the English. If they were not copied there (in Spain) I would be forced to prepare for them and hold myself ready for defence against them at every point and that would use up many more troops, give me much more anxiety, and possibly do much more damage."

"If thirty thousand English landed in Belgium, or in the Pas de Calais, and requisitioned supplies from three hundred villages — if they were to go and burn the Chateau de Caulaincourt—they would do me much more harm than forcing me to maintain an army in Spain."

"You must take good care not to repeat the ideas I express to you; for if the idea entered the British heads to make expeditions against my coasts, now at one point and now at another, to re-embark as soon as forces were collected to fight them, and go at once to threaten some other point—the situation would be unmanageable!"

PARALLEL POSITIONS

The position of the two men was almost exactly the same. The Eastern front demanded attention, all Europe was occupied and being primed for a new order, and the British had the support of the "stupid" populations "who, if I gave them their heads, would welcome the English with open arms" and Napoleon was threatening them with "the danger of the Russian colossus."

And something like black-faced, rubber-shod "Commandos" landing all over the place was one form of warfare which Napoleon greatly feared might pop into British heads as it had popped into his own.

Guests at Dinner

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Woodward, with Miss Elizabeth Woodward and Miss Ruth Maclean, left on the midnight boat for Vancouver and will return to Government House on Tuesday. Last evening His Honor and Mrs. Woodward had as their guests at dinner, Mr. Ernest H. Gruening, Governor of Alaska, with Mr. J. W. Carey and Mr. Glen Carrington, of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. Also present at dinner were Miss Woodward, Miss Maclean, Hon. John Hart and Mr. Arthur Dixon, deputy minister of public works.

Congratulated on Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Davey, 680 Oliver Street, received the congratulations of a large number of friends who surprised them at their home yesterday afternoon and evening, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Davey was invalided home from the last war, in 1917, after being a prisoner in Germany for many months. When he regained his health he was attached to the staff of the Military Convalescent Hospital at Esquimalt, and during the past twenty-five years has been a tireless worker for the Great War Veterans and the Amputations League, of which he is a member. In recognition of his service in bettering the conditions of war veterans, Mr. Davey was awarded the George V Silver Jubilee Medal and later, the Coronation Medal of George VI. Mr. and Mrs. Davey have two sons, the elder, Sgt.-Pilot John Vernon Davey, is serving in the Middle East with the R.C.A.F. and the second, Arthur, is at home. Mr. and Mrs. Davey were married at St. Saviour's Church, Mr. William Chadwick giving his sister-in-law in marriage, and the bride's sister, Mrs. Chadwick, attending her as matron of honor. Last evening with all the Victoria members of the family present, Mr. Chadwick again proposed the toast to the bride of twenty-five years ago. Masses of antirrhinum, carnations, tulips and anemones were in profusion throughout the house.

and the supper table was attractively centred with mixed Spring blooms. The highlight of the day for Mr. and Mrs. Davey was a cablegram of congratulations from their son in the Middle East.

Bride-to-Be Honored

Mrs. S. A. Pomeroy, Mrs. A. McBeath and Mrs. G. Scott were joint hostesses at the former's home on Admirals Road when they entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Muriel Riley, whose marriage to Petty Officer B. J. Brown, R.C.N., takes place this week. On her arrival, the bride-to-be and her mother were presented with elegant bouquets of pink and white carnations. The guest of honor received her gifts from a beautifully decorated chest of red, white and blue, with R.C.N. inscribed on it. The evening was spent in music, games and contests, after which refreshments were served from a table covered with lace cloth centred with a crystal bowl of red and white tulips and lighted with blue candles in matching crystal holders. The invited guests included Mrs. R. Riley, Mrs. F. Harvey, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. F. Gray, Mrs. G. Williamson, Mrs. McDuff, Mrs. N. Patterson, Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Griffiths, Mrs. B. F. Day, Mrs. J. Davies, Mrs. A. Herrington, Mrs. A. P. Dods, Mrs. J. Jenkins, Mrs. Clements, Mrs. B. Brown, Mrs. G. Bannister, Mrs. T. Flannigan, Mrs. T. Flannigan, Jr., Miss Emily Spencer, Miss Garrett, Miss McBeath, Miss Williams, Miss McBeath and Thelma Pomeroy.

Parties at Tea

An enjoyable evening was spent on Wednesday when members of the Wilkinson Road United Church were entertained at a tea at the home of Mrs. A. B. Cross, 2760 Thompson Avenue, in honor of Miss Vivian Hannan, a May bride-to-be. On her arrival, the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of Taitian roses. During the afternoon she also received many useful gifts. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Paulin, sister of the bride-to-be, from a table centred with a bowl of pink tulips. The invited guests were: Mesdames J. Hannan, A. R. Smedley, H. Thirskill, W. Paulin, G. E. Bowes, S. K. Smith, A. F. Smith, T. Ruestig, A. B. Cross, T. S. Clarke, N. Houshord, Misses Pat Richards, Lois Spooner, Lillian Stokes, Kathleen Paulin, Lila Crowther, Frances Bode, Myrtle Lyle and Master Donald Paulin.

Miscellaneous Shower

Miss Christina Anderson, Telegraph Road, Keating, entertained at a miscellaneous shower and tea, recently, in honor of Miss Hazel Lamont, whose marriage took place on Wednesday. The bride-to-be received a bouquet of roses, and the gifts were presented in a decorated hat box. The tea table was centred with vases of roses, Mrs. C. Bannister and Mrs. W. D. Mitchell presiding. Mrs. Neil Atkinson and Miss Pat Young assisted the hostess in serving. The invited guests were: Mrs. W. D. Mitchell, Mrs. J. P. Whitley, Mrs. C. Bannister, Mrs. Arthur Wright, Mrs. L. Hafer, Sr., Mrs. J. J. Whitley, Mrs. Wickerden, Mrs. S. Caldwell, Mrs. A. Hafer, Mrs. Neil Atkinson, Mrs. M. Anderson, Misses F. Hafer, P. Young, J. Whitley, C. Anderson and J. Hafer.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wright celebrated their golden wedding anniversary quietly on April 26, at their home on Oliphant Street, married at the Congregational Chapel at Bishop's Shortford, Herts, England, on April 26, 1892. Mr. and Mrs. Wright came to Canada in 1911 and before coming to Victoria twelve years ago Mr. Wright was a well-known farmer of the Salmon Arm District, where he was one of the first directors of the Salmon Arm Creamery. They have four sons and eight grandchildren, all at Salmon Arm, B.C., and one daughter, Miss Muriel Wright, at home. Mr. and Mrs. Wright are members of the Fairfield United Church, where Mrs. Wright is an active member of the women's organizations. Among the beautiful floral gifts received on their anniversary was a crystal vase.

Visits B.C. House

The Duchess of Kent paid a visit to British Columbia House, London, recently, accompanied by Lady Herbert, lady-in-waiting. Her Royal Highness, who was received by Mr. W. A. McAdam, the Agent-General, and Mrs. McAdam, inspected the British Columbia Services Canteen, where she chatted with Mrs. Anderson, the superintendent, and was then taken upstairs to the Information and Amusements Bureau, which is operated by Mrs. Tyrrell Godman, formerly of Victoria, who showed her the Recreation Room for the troops. From there she was taken by Mr. and Mrs. McAdam to the Tobacco Paving Room of the British Columbia Overseas Tobacco Fund, administered by Lady Borrett and her band of voluntary helpers.

Had Lunch Shower

Honoring Miss Eileen Young, a bride-to-be of the week, Mrs. M. Macdon and Miss Betty M. Wilson were hostesses last evening at a surprise lunch shower held at Mrs. Macdon's home on Walters Street. A corsage bouquet of carnations, violets and Spring flowers was presented to Miss Young upon her arrival, and the pretty gifts were presented later in a flower-decorated box. An evening of games was enjoyed and a buffet supper was served by the hostesses. The guests were: Misses Alma Cook, Betty Matthews, Joan Bryce, Cora Marshall, Mary Selie, Kay Trevelyan, Jean Taylor, Kay Weeks, Margaret Trevelyan and Beverly McBeath.

Bride Party Held

Lilac and white were arranged throughout the rooms of the Business and Professional Women's Club for the bride party of the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., which was held on Wednesday evening. Ten tables were in play and at the close of the evening refreshments were served under the co-sponsorship of Miss Jessie Knight.

Her Majesty the Queen, at a distribution depot "Somewhere in England," examines some of the warm garments made by women of Canada in a scene from the film, "There Too Go I," to be shown here shortly. The picture, in which Anna Neagle plays a leading part, is a dramatic and stirring story of the vital work of the Canadian Red Cross, both overseas and in Canada. In a nation-wide appeal from May 11 to 23, Canadians are being asked to give $9,000,000 to aid this work during the next year.

Parties at Tea

Misses Elsie Clarke and Joyce Finch entertained at a tea at the home of Mrs. A. B. Cross, 2760 Thompson Avenue, in honor of Miss Vivian Hannan, a May bride-to-be. On her arrival, the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of Taitian roses. During the afternoon she also received many useful gifts. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Paulin, sister of the bride-to-be, from a table centred with a bowl of pink tulips. The invited guests were: Mesdames J. Hannan, A. R. Smedley, H. Thirskill, W. Paulin, G. E. Bowes, S. K. Smith, A. F. Smith, T. Ruestig, A. B. Cross, T. S. Clarke, N. Houshord, Misses Pat Richards, Lois Spooner, Lillian Stokes, Kathleen Paulin, Lila Crowther, Frances Bode, Myrtle Lyle and Master Donald Paulin.

Here From East

Lieut. David Angus, R.C.N.V.R., and Mrs. Angus, formerly Miss Kay Grogan, have arrived from Halifax to spend a short time with Colonel and Mrs. R. Angus, Bowker Avenue. They brought with them from Halifax their little nephew, Richard, two-and-a-half-year-old son of Lieutenant and Mrs. Richard Angus, who will spend the summer with his grandparents.

Leaving on Holiday

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Hessey, Woodlawn Crescent, will leave today for the Mainland en route to Edmonton and will later visit their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Donaldson, Lucknow, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Hessey plan to take a six-month holiday and will visit other places of interest in Ontario before returning home.

Received Gift

Miss Isabel McIntyre, R.N., whose marriage to Mr. James Wood took place next week, was the recipient of a gift of flat silverware, which was presented recently by her fellow nurses in the graduation class of 1942 of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Wedding Gifts

The associates at Safeway Stores Limited, Port Street, of Miss Irene Joyce Fenell, whose marriage to Bobby Alfred William Palmer will take place this evening, presented her with a silver canteen and a pair of silver candlesticks.

Leave for Toronto

Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. H. M. Newton, Transit Road, have left for Toronto and while in the East will attend the wedding of their daughter, Miss Christine Newton, to Sub-Lieut. Peter R. L. Charles, R.C.N.V.R.

Wedding Date Postponed

The wedding of Miss Hazel Martha Williamson and Mr. Charles Couch, which was to have taken place this evening at 8.30 o'clock at the home of Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, has been postponed until May 8.

Here From England

Sergeant Trevor Norman, R.C.O.C., has returned from England, where he was stationed for some time, and is spending his leave at his home at Langford.

Princess Juliana Ahears Her Mother

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—This was a day of surprises for Princess Juliana of the Netherlands. Her Royal Highness was thirty-three today. She was prepared for this to be her happiest birthday since the war started because her husband, Prince Bernhard, was here to celebrate with her. But Princess Juliana was hardly prepared for so much excitement. First there were the presents—a whole pile of them on the breakfast table, the kind of present a mother likes best because children's hands make every single one of them. Then there was a wondrous string of beads, painstakingly strung by two-and-a-half-year-old Princess Irene. There were four-year-old Princess Beatrix had drawn. There were tiny bits of embroidery, baskets woven of paper, funny unrecognizable things. Then in the midst of the excitement, the telephone rang. It was England calling. Queen Wilhelmina calling to wish happiness to her only daughter.

Local Artist's Work Will Be On Exhibition

A large and representative group of Emily Carr's works has been presented by the distinguished painter to her native Province of British Columbia. An "Emily Carr Trust" will eventually house the collection in Vancouver.

Forty-five canvases and sketches will form a permanent collection with the remaining thirty-five to be sold for its house and maintenance. The whole collection is traveling East immediately for exhibition in the Toronto Art Gallery and later, probably in Montreal. For years past Miss Carr's paintings have received ever increasing recognition in the East and overseas.

"The news that there will be a representative and permanent Emily Carr collection on public view in the city comes as welcome news to her numerous admirers here," Paulette, of The Vancouver Daily Province, says.

"The Victoria artist ranks as not only our most distinguished painter of the West, but as one of the leading contemporary painters on this continent."

Auxiliary Tea Will Be Held

Miss Sara Spencer has again graciously invited the Auxiliary to the Canadian Forestry Corps (Overseas) to hold the annual silver tea at her home, 1040 Moss Street, on May 6, the entire proceeds of the affair going to the comforts fund for the men overseas.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward will officially open the tea at 3 o'clock, and assisting Miss Spencer in receiving the guests will be the president, Mrs. S. W. Raven, and Mrs. Alan Parlow. Mrs. P. E. Corby will be in receipt of custom and Mrs. J. Webb will have charge of a contest.

Games will be arranged during the afternoon by Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, assisted by Pte. Stan Levy, recently returned from duty in Scotland. Mr. Norman R. Hill, the Lancashire baritone, will be the guest soloist. In charge of the arrangements are Mrs. H. Arnold Morley, Mrs. William Sloan and Miss B. Morley.

Benefits Will Go To Service Women

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—Women who enlist in the Canadian active services will be looked after when the war is over, Pensions Minister Mackenzie told the Parliamentary committee on postwar reconstruction today.

He said that women discharged from the Canadian Women's Army Corps and the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) will receive the same re-establishment benefits as men of the armed forces.

The girls in uniform were eligible for disability pensions. Under certain restrictions, they would also be paid out-of-work benefits, if they had difficulty establishing themselves when they were discharged. Mr. Mackenzie said this unemployment payment to them, however, will not exceed their rate of pay while they were a member of the armed forces. A dependent wife or a pensioned widow would not receive this benefit unless such re-establishment grant was necessary.

Y.P.S. News

METROPOLITAN

The monthly social of the Metropolitan Y.P.U. was held on Tuesday evening under the direction of Arthur Lees. Following a brief meeting at the church the society joined the First United Y.P.U. for the remainder of the evening. Games and contests were held and prizes won by Marjorie Holland and Kenneth Priestley. Fred MacMillan conducted a sing-song, accompanied by Betty Walker, Bob Henson sang two songs. A committee in charge of Helen McNaught and Margaret Ver, served refreshments. Dick Johnson, president, thanked First United for its hospitality and the meeting closed with the singing of "Taps."

Bowling will be held on Friday at 9 o'clock. Members are reminded of the rally sponsored by the Lower Island Union, at the Metropolitan Church on Sunday evening, May 10. At the invitation of Dr. Whitford, the young people will take part in the service and following this there will be refreshments served in the schoolroom.

An interesting programme has been planned for the meeting next Tuesday at 8 o'clock. Motion pictures will be shown and the sing-song will be in charge of Mr. Cameron Gorrie. It is requested that everyone attend this meeting so that arrangements for the closing party on May 12 can be completed.

ST. ANDREWS

The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will be held on Monday at 8 o'clock in the lecture room. The programme will be under the direction of Lily Wilson, devotional convener. All young people are welcome.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the auxiliary is requested to get in touch with any member of the committee. A car will call on Wednesday afternoon, May 6, to collect articles already promised.

TWO PERSONS DROWN AS SKIFF CAPSIZES

Continued from Page 1 his mother to row it out. She did so and both started for shore again. The waters were choppy and the tiny craft capsized. Neither could swim.

About 7 o'clock the wife became curious over the unduly long absence, as the beach was only a short distance. She went down, saw the overturned skiff close inshore and her mother-in-law's body floating in the water fifty or sixty feet offshore. The wife waded out and pulled the body in. She applied artificial respiration without avail.

BECOMES LOST IN WOODS

Her husband was nowhere to be found, and after frantic search the distracted young wife set out through the woods for the Kuper Island Indian School, two and one-half or three miles away. She became lost in the darkness and, exhausted, fell asleep in the woods, remaining there all night.

Awakening at daybreak, she retraced her steps to her home, arriving there about 8 o'clock. It took her more than two hours to locate a trail to the Indian School, where she reached about noon. There she told her story and obtained assistance. She was rushed to Chemainus Hospital in an exhausted condition. Her condition tonight is reported fair.

Her husband's body was found floating near the shore, and with that of his mother, was taken to the

Langford Has First Aid Post

The members of the first aid post at the Langford branch of the Rural Equimall A.R.P. held a meeting on Monday evening at "St. Aidan's" Island Highway, which has been lent for that purpose by Mr. Whitlock, Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Haggie, who have made their home there.

Mrs. J. C. Nimmo presided at the meeting. Miss Ruth Corbould, R.N., was elected officer in charge of the post, with Mr. Stanley Clarke, assistant; Miss Elizabeth Welch, secretary-treasurer. The secretary was asked to express the gratitude of the members to Mr. Whitlock, Mr. and Mrs. Haggie and Mr. M. Blawie for their help, and to Mr. D. A. McNeil, who offered his truck to be used as an ambulance if necessary.

It was decided to hold a cleaning bee and that practices in first aid work would be held on May 7 and every second Thursday thereafter.

Original Scheme Aids Many Funds

Mrs. Josephine Cassidy, 464 Garbally Road, is doing her share in helping the many worthy charity funds in the city. Army had scored a "major victory"—but the German radio countered with a claim that related Russian attacks on the central front were frustrated.

A Reuters dispatch from Kulyb-shev, Russia's alternate capital, quoted Maj.-Gen. M. Zakharov as writing that persistent Soviet attacks on the Kalinin front between Smolensk and Leningrad have so confused the Germans that they have wrecked Nazi plans for a Spring offensive.

Zakharov, in a dispatch from that front to the army newspaper Red Star, wrote:

"This does not mean that the Germans will not try to utilize the slightest opportunity to seize the initiative and pass into the counter-offensive. They are bringing up reserves of men and material in an attempt to take advantage of the favorable conditions of Spring and Summer."

Red Star also recalled for the first time that points near Leningrad still are in German hands.

Cities held by the Germans include Slutsk, thirty miles southeast of Leningrad near the Moscow-Leningrad railroad and 100 miles west of Tikhvin, where the Russians began their Winter drive in that area; Krasnogvardeisk, thirty-five miles south of Leningrad, on the road to Gullin, Estonia; Pukhovo, Peterhof, once the Summer home of the czars; Pskov, Luga, Luban, Pushkin, Ostrov, and Vyritsa.

In the Crimea, Russian reports said, there were no substantial changes on the front, but announced the sinking of a 10,000-ton Nazi transport in the Barents Sea, and a thirty-one to eleven advantage in aerial combats during Wednesday.

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP).—William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist Party in the United States, who is scheduled to address a mass meeting in Toronto tomorrow will not be admitted to Canada, it was learned tonight.

NORMA SHEARER
IN HIT COMEDY

Laugh-Studded Romance, "We Were Dancing," Opens on Dominion Screen—Melvyn Douglas Stars

The brilliant comedy talents of Norma Shearer and Melvyn Douglas are brought to the fore in "We Were Dancing," M-G-M's laugh-studded romance, which will open today at the Dominion Theatre.

The story presents two attractive young people depending on their social charms for a living, who fall in love and then pretend to be still single after getting married.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer furnished the piece with attractive backgrounds, and an excellent supporting cast includes Gail Patrick, Lee Bowman, Marjorie Main, Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray, Florence Bates and Heather Thatcher.

COLORFUL UNIT OF
R.A.F. PORTRAYED

Ronald Reagan and Olympe Bradna Star in Thrilling Air Saga "International Squadron"

"International Squadron," the story of the R.A.F.'s most colorful unit, will open today at the Atlas Theatre.

Ronald Reagan is starred in the role of a dare-devil American test pilot who joins the squadron and becomes one of its most celebrated heroes.

In the fine supporting cast are Olympe Bradna, William Lundigan, Joan Perry, Reginald Denny, Cliff Edwards, Julie Bishop and Michael Ames.

The glorious adventures of the International Squadron as they engage the enemy in the night skies, the fraternal spirit of their group, even though they all represent different nations, their superbly courageous exploits, all make up the background against which the acrobats have woven an exciting human interest drama and a tender romantic story.

CADET Those who enjoy THEATRE amusement of the lighter type and appreciate a clever, well-conceived comedy plot should thoroughly enjoy "Look Who's Laughing," which is now at the Cadet Theatre. The radio favorites Fibber McGee and Molly, Lucile Ball and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy head the cast.

CAPITOL Tyrone Power is starred in "Son of Fury," the picturization of Edson Marshall's book "Benjamin Blake," which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Rated by Time Magazine's book authority, as the best adventure story of the year, the filmization of the novel boasts an outstanding cast headed by exotic Gene Tierney, George Sanders, Frances Farmer and Roddy McDowall are prominently featured.

RIO Filmed amid a stirring THEATRE background of feuds, fights and furious rivalry, Columbia's "Naval Academy" is now showing at the Rio Theatre. With Freddie Bartholomew, Jimmy Lyon and Billy Cook playing the featured roles, the picture tells the exciting story of three typical American kids whose paths cross at a training school for naval cadets.

YORK "My Son, My Son," THEATRE which is currently showing at the York Theatre, is told with a variety of feeling, ranging from light-hearted gaiety to gripping pathos in its more dramatic scenes. Madeleine Carroll, Brian Aherne and Louis Hayward play the leading roles in the screen version of Howard Spring's best-selling novel.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES Camp, who plays the role of Sabu's young mother in Alexander Korda's Technicolor production of Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Book," which is showing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, had to postpone her honeymoon for three months because of the filming of the picture. She was married three days before the picture reached the cameras.

MUSICAL COMEDY
TOO MONOTONOUS

John Charles Thomas, whose voice is one of the finest baritones known to the concert stage today, will be heard in recital on Monday, May 4, at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

To all outward appearances he is the same genial John Charles Thomas of "Applesauce" fame, while the voice still possesses the golden thrill that made him the matinee idol of an army of fans. But today he is something more than voice and smile; his work has taken on a new significance. He is now an artist in the true sense of the word, one whose consummate style and unexcelled interpretation of his art have given him the right to precedence in the rank of our concert artists.

Although success on the light opera stage offered greater financial reward, Thomas did not hesitate when it came to a choice for further artistic development. "The monotony of singing the same music day after day was unbearable to me," he remarked. "I only stayed in musical comedy to make enough money to get out and do the thing that really interests me—the most—concert singing. There

What Today Means

"TAURUS"

If May 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., from 2:45 to 4:45, and from 8:45 to 10:45 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a.m., from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. and from 10:45 p.m. until midnight. Arriving at false conclusions will be one of the most common faults on May 1 and it is one of the things you should guard against. Sensitive people who are repressed when they attempt to be demonstrative will be easily hurt on this date. Be governed by loving instincts on this day; let your family and friends see the sentimental side of your nature. Only by maintaining high standards can you expect to get through May 1 successfully. Married and engaged couples, and those whose matrimonial hopes seem likely to be realized, will do well to realize that "you can never plan the future by the past," especially if it involves making a budget for future expenditures.

If you are a woman and May 1 is your birthday, indulge any fondness you have for outdoor life, for exercise is essential for physical fitness. You probably love wholeheartedly or not at all, and your loyalty to those in whom you are interested is apt to be unswerving. You probably get along much better with men than with women and command their respect. VICTORIA TAKES LEAD IN DOMINION CAGE SERIES

Glancing Over Sport

By JOE DELAHUNTY

WON, DESPITE REFEREE

Despite all the beeping and squawking about the referees, the Victoria Dominions breezed home in front of the Montreal Oilers to take a two-to-one lead in the Canadian men's senior basketball championship series last night in the Eastern metropolis. The Victorians finished two baskets in front at the final whistle and therefore will enter tomorrow night's game, slight favorites to capture the honors. Dave Nicol, boss of the Doms, tried his best to have a switch in the referees, but the Canadian cage association stayed by their decision and sent the same two officials back on to the court to hand out the decisions. All the local boys have to do to win the fourth game of the series is to use their heads. They have the basketball material, the experience, speed and plenty of youth on their side, and therefore should take the Oilers over the coals on Saturday night without much trouble and thereby end the series. If this happens the boys will be heading for home on Sunday.

One staunch Victoria supporter at the game was none other than Lynn Patrick, who was a member of the Blue Ribbons when they brought the first Dominion title to this city back in 1933. Lynn was one of the fans along with his wife, Dorothy, and most likely was the only Victorian in the building. Montreal had a one-man team on the floor in the person of Ronnie Wilson, who was driving them home at a terrific rate during the entire battle. Just who was checking him, I don't know, but they sure let him run loose during the forty minutes of play. By the way, if Victoria wins the series it will mark the fifteenth time in the last eighteen years that a Western club has lifted the cup.

ODDS AND ENDS

Approximately 200 lawn bowlers will take part in the grand opening of the season tomorrow afternoon on the greens of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club at Beacon Hill. The devotees of the sport are praying that the weatherman will be on his best behavior so the "lads" can enjoy their friendly matches. Fritz Hanson, the "mighty mite" of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Canadian football champions, has joined the Canadian Active Army and is at present in training at Camp Shilo, Man., prior to taking an officers' training course at Gordon Head. Idol of East-West grid fans ever since he came to Canada from Perham, Minneapolis, in 1935, Hanson is one of the best broken field runners ever seen in the Dominion. He played with Winnipeg's three Dominion championship teams. A graduate of North Dakota State University, he received some officers' training at the University there. For the past four years he had been employed with a Winnipeg insurance firm. Hanson should be a great help to local Canadian football teams during his stay here. He will be able to hand out some sound advice to the youngsters who are performing in the junior league. It looks as if the American League pennant chase is going to be between the fast-traveling Cleveland Indians minus Bobby Feller, and the New York Yankees. The Indians have just posted their eleventh straight victory, while McCarthy's clan broke a short losing streak at the expense of the St. Louis Browns.

One of the largest contributions to the Canadian Red Cross Society during the past year was made by the Manitoba Curling Association which raised $20,000 and handed it over to the worthy cause. Looks as if the lack of transportation might cause baseball more trouble than lack of players. The housing problem in Washington is so bad that Stan Spence and George Case of the Senators slept in the clubhouse the other night.

THE DRILLON CASE
Gordie Drillon, ace forward of the Toronto Maple Leafs, is definitely on the block; in other words, he is up for sale to the highest bidder in the National League circuit. The chances are that he will wind up as a member of Lester Patrick's New York Rangers. The real story behind the Drillon case will probably

Cleveland Scores Eleventh Straight Baseball Triumph

Manager Lou Boudreau's Squad Continues Winning Streak in American League Race—Yankees Blank St. Louis Browns, 3-0—Dodgers and Cardinals Come Through

(By The Canadian Press)

Cleveland Indians won their eleventh straight game yesterday—beating the Athletics, 8-1—although Manager Lou Boudreau disregarded a baseball tradition not to break up a winning combination.

Boudreau benched Centrefielder Roy Weatherly, who drove in four runs yesterday with a double, triple and home run, in favor of Buster Mills when Southpaw Herman Besse started on the mound for the Athletics. Weatherly had left-handed while Mills is a right-hander.

Mills drove in two runs with a single with the bases full in the first inning. In the fifth he drove in a third run. Big Ernie Bonham pitched his second shutout and third straight victory of the season with a four-out performance that brought New York Yankees a 3-0 verdict over St. Louis Browns after they had lost the first two games of the series. Bonham gave a superb show, facing only thirty batters.

Joe Gordon was sidelined by a sore back today, ending a string of 471 American League games in which he had appeared for the Yankees.

KELOWNA, April 30 (CP)—Kelowna's annual regatta will be held again this year, August 5 and 6, as in the past two years, the entire proceeds will be donated to the Dominion Treasury to aid the war effort. It was decided at the annual meeting of the Kelowna Aquatic Club. Several American clubs have indicated they intend to have strong teams on hand to compete in the regatta.

ONE MAN SHOW
Dolph Canill put on a spectacular one-man show in the closing innings to carry Brooklyn Dodgers to an 11-8 triumph over Cincinnati Reds and stretch Brooklyn's winning streak to six games.

After a wild fifth frame in which the Dodgers bunched six runs and Cincinnati five, the Reds led, 8-6.

Then in the sixth the sturdy first baseman hit his third homer in

ROWE SOLD TO DODGERS

Famous Mound Star of Detroit Tigers Goes to Brooklyn for $15,000

DETROIT, April 30 (AP)—The American League pitching career of Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe—one without parallel in the last decade for sheer brilliance and contrasting setbacks—came to an end today when Detroit Tigers sold the thirty-year-old right-hander to Brooklyn Dodgers.

While the purchase price was undisclosed, it was reported that Larry MacPhail needed $15,000 off the Brooklyn payroll to complete the transaction that sent the Arkanian into the National League. He will join the Dodgers tomorrow at Pittsburgh.

Rowe, who shares with Smokey Joe Wood, Walter Johnson and Robert (Lefty) Grove the league record of sixteen consecutive victories, was starting his tenth season with the Tigers and, ten days ago, defeated Chicago White Sox for his only 1942 victory. Only once in his career did he have a twenty-victory season, but he compiled a remarkable record of 105 victories and sixty-two defeats.

The sale of Rowe came as a surprise in some quarters, yet it was fresh evidence that the Tigers intend to string along with young talent that has given the club a tremendous lift in the new season.

By disposing of Rowe, the Tigers elected to keep twenty-five-year-old Harold Manners, former University of Iowa right-hander and cousin of Bob Feller, who would have been cut adrift to reduce the squad to the league playing limit.

DOMINOES REGISTER FOUR-POINT VICTORY OVER EASTERN SQUAD

Norm Baker and Art Chapman Lead Local Hoopsters to 40-36 Decision After Hard-Fought Battle—Ronnie Wilson Fires Home Twenty-Four Points for Oilers

By ALAN DUCKETT

Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL, April 30 (CP)—Victoria Dominions took a one-game lead in the Dominion senior basketball best-of-five final here tonight as they downed Montreal Oilers 40-36 in the third game of the series.

Dominoes won the first game on Monday and Oilers the second on Tuesday.

It took the West Coast squad all the power it could muster to defeat the fighting Oilers, who repeatedly whittled down any advantage Victoria could obtain.

Although his mates fought a losing battle, Ronnie Wilson was the top scorer on the floor with twenty-four points, ten field goals and four free throws. Nearest to him was Norm Baker, who paced Dominoes in their first win, with fifteen points, while Playing Coach Art Chapman counted eleven of the Victoria points.

The Oilers were without Pat Griffin, their tall centerman, and his loss hampered them in their defensive plays.

DOMINOES LEAD
Dominoes went into the lead near the start of the game, and although Oilers came close to eating up to them, they never lost their lead.

Wilson opened the scoring for Oilers shortly after the starting whistle with a long shot, but two quick baskets by Art Chapman gave Victoria a 4-2 advantage. Wilson tied the battle up again with another long basket, but free throws by Baker and Nicol sent the Western quintette ahead 6-4.

Play swayed from one end of the floor to the other, with the scoring split about evenly until baskets by Art Chapman and Jack Mottishaw gave Dominoes a 17-11 lead. Scoring was divided evenly from then on and as the halftime whistle sounded Dominoes led 24-18.

Art Chapman and Norm Baker shot Victoria into a 28-18 edge as the final half got underway, but a basket and two free shots by Wilson made the score 28-22 for Dominoes. Wilson scored two more baskets after Art Chapman counted one for Victoria and field goals for the Oilers by Johnny Ferraro and Duddy Bloomfield brought Montreal to within two points of Victoria.

The Montreals kept close to the Dominoes but a field goal and free shot by Baker and a basket by Art Chapman made the score 37-32. Wilson and Bloomfield snapped in short shots for Oilers, but field goals by Chuck Chapman and Baker edged the scoring with Dominoes leading 40-36.

Alsab Favored to Win Race Classic At Churchill Park

Public Makes Him Betting Choice for Kentucky Derby Tomorrow in Louisville—Requested Looks Good in Fast Workout—Sun Again Is Doubtful Starter States Report

By SID FIDLER
Associated Press Sport Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—The final future book odds tonight for Saturday's Kentucky Derby still had Alsab—beaten seven times in a row this season—the betting choice, adding another dizzy doing to the collection that makes this the "daffy" Derby of all times.

At the same time, game little Requested, who came to town almost unheralded yesterday, in spite of his important Wood Memorial and Flamingo Stake victories, seemed up in the current waning almost alongside the Chicago hope simply by stepping the Churchill Downs strip for the first time with a neat 1:54.3 mile-and-an-eight work-out. Requested clicked off the last quarter in a snappy :34.5.

DOUBTFUL STARTER

Meanwhile, it was learned the chances for Warren Wright's Sun Again to get to the post at about 4:30 p.m., M.D.T., Saturday had gone from bad to worse. Although Wright and Trainer Ben Jones hadn't made a final decision, they had swung toward keeping their big quartered husky at home. Sun Again is a couple of weeks behind in his training.

If Sun Today's chestnut son stays out of it, fifteen horses will be left in just about as wide open a field as the Derby has ever sported.

In this free-for-all, with the horses generally considered no better than an ordinary lot, any one of them might do the trick.

Subscriber to that theory, this corner goes to a slouching, shuffling gelding called Sweep Swinger—owned by T. D. Buhl, the Detroit real estate and manufacturing man—who has shown in several starts that he's the kind who can run right over horses in the stretch if there's enough distance to a race. And a mile and a quarter is plenty of room.

SUGGESTS THAT COURSES CLOSE

Stanley Thompson Advances Proposal That Golf Layouts Shut During the War

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—A leading authority on the subject drove straight from the tee today with a design for wartime golf which would transform ritzy fairways into parade grounds for soldiers in training.

This radical proposal was advanced by Stanley Thompson, of Toronto, golf architect and a former champion himself. Without any manifest sympathy for his fellow golfers, Mr. Thompson suggested one-third of the nation's 700-odd courses shut down for the war's duration.

He gave as his view that exclusive clubhouses could be used as military training headquarters, particularly for local reserve units. Deserted fairways would echo to the tramp of trainees on drill manoeuvres.

"It wouldn't hurt the courses at all," Mr. Thompson said in an interview. "With reasonable care, top dressing and judicious fertilizing, they could be restored three months after the war ended."

DESIGNED COURSES

Mr. Thompson ought to know. He has designed ninety-six of the most picturesque courses in the country, including Banff Springs, Alta., and Capilano in Vancouver.

His shut-down plan for golf had several other features he believed would help the war effort.

"Approximately $60,000,000 is invested today in courses, clubhouses, land and equipment," the architect said. "It takes several million more each year for labor and material to keep the courses running."

"About one-third of these could comfortably close down for the duration. If the extra money went to the Government, it would buy a lot of war machines. Thousands of

Lawn Bowlers to Start Season at Beacon Hill Park

While a limited amount of lawn bowling has been indulged in by members of one or two of the clubs in Victoria district, official opening of the 1942 season is billed to take place on the green at the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, at Beacon Hill Park, tomorrow afternoon. The official ceremony will be conducted by the president of the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association, Harold A. Beckwith, while outstanding members of all other clubs in the district will, it is expected, participate in the ceremonies.

Owing to the rather backward nature of this year's spring, the greens are not yet in the condition which usually obtains in and around the provincial capital, but growth has been very pronounced, the result being that all the playing greens are in fairly good shape. Therefore, devotees of the game are confidently looking forward to one of the most successful seasons in the history of the sport in British Columbia.

workers would be released for war industry.

What about the golfers? "Well, there probably would be shouts of protest," Mr. Thompson said. "They'd be crowded a bit if one-third of the courses were shut down, but there would be plenty of room for those who really wanted to play."

DENTISTS MEET IN CONVENTION

American and Canadian Practitioners Attend Sessions of B.C. Association

Dr. J. C. A. Harding, of San Diego, California, will be the guest of the annual meeting of the British Columbia Dental Association, which opens today at the Empress Hotel, and will close Saturday.

Dr. Harding's talks will be built around the subject of practice management. Dr. G. F. Amyot, Provincial health officer, will deliver an address of welcome to the convention this morning, and Dr. Harry Thompson, field secretary of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, will speak to the members of the British Columbia Dental Association at their annual banquet tonight.

SERVICE EXHIBIT

Through the co-operation of Lieut.-Colonel Gordon Frawley, district dental officer of Military District No. 11, and Major C. W. Steele, command dental officer, Western Army command, the Canadian Army Dental Corps will have an exhibit and hold a clinic upon fractures of the jaw.

Other guest clinicians who will demonstrate various advances in the art of dentistry include "Dr. C. T. Fleetwood, Dr. C. S. Ballard, Dr. O. A. Anderson, Dr. J. Hoelscher, Dr. B. Jankelson and Dr. William Anderson, all of whom are from Seattle.

Dr. Robert Stewart, Dr. William Miller, Dr. Walter Sproule, Dr. A. J. Macrae, Dr. R. E. Nickels and representatives of the Vancouver Dental Study Club are among the members of the British Columbia Dental Association who will devote their time and skill to clinical demonstrations during the convention.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

The association will elect officers for the ensuing year at its annual banquet tonight. Delegates and visitors will compete in a tournament at the Royal Colwood Golf Club at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. An interesting feature of the convention will be a display of early and now obsolete dental instruments by Dr. A. J. Garescine, of Victoria, who has been in practice here probably longer than any of his colleagues in the dental association.

Dr. Henrietta Anderson will address members of the Victoria Dental Assistants' Association and their guests at 10 o'clock this morning. The assistants will hold a luncheon in the Empress Hotel at noon, and will visit the Oakbay Beach Hotel for tea at 4 p.m.

FOREST BRANCH WANTED BOATS

Province Was Prepared to Purchase Several of Impounded Japanese Craft

Though it was prepared to buy several craft for administration and fire patrol, the Provincial Forest Service was informed this week that no vessels would be available from the pool of surrendered Japanese fishing boats for that purpose. First choice, the Province was informed, is going to the navy, and after that to fishing boat operators.

The decision leaves the forest service in something of a quandary. C. D. Orchard, chief forester, explained. Four small power craft are needed now, and though the department has the money to pay for them, boat construction yards are fully occupied in wartime construction. The forest service would have had on the Japanese vessel if permitted as the best solution of the problem.

DOING WITHOUT

The alternative is to do without, and that is what we are doing at present," Mr. Orchard said.

The service maintains a small fleet of power boats and launches in connection with forest fire patrol at coastal points otherwise not easy to reach. Two new vessels are usually added each year, to make up for replacements, and at the moment four are desired. If it cannot obtain the boats, the service will overhaul its existing craft, and keep running the chief forester intimated.

NO MILK INCREASE

VANCOUVER, April 30 (CP)—A survey of Vancouver's larger dairies today showed that none of them intends immediately at least to take advantage of authority granted by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to increase milk prices here a cent a quart. The board announced April 23, dairies in Vancouver and Charlottetown had been given permission to increase milk prices.

JOBS FOR ALL WORKERS NOW

Victoria Industry Can Absorb Men Able and Willing To Work

"Any man able and willing to work may have a job in war industry today in Victoria. All he has to do is apply to the Employment and Claims Office, 1001 Langley Street. "It makes no difference whether he is skilled or unskilled," said C. A. Mudge, manager, yesterday, in describing the increasing shortage of labor in the city. "There is, more than ever, a heavy demand for men in the iron trades. And laborers for many kinds of work are also wanted."

"These men," he said, "are still required in the iron trades include riveters, welders, lathe workers and fitters."

TRADESMEN FOR ARMY

At the same time, Mr. Mudge emphasized, the demand for skilled iron workers is not peculiar to Victoria. He told of a request received earlier in the day from the Halifax office, and of a call several days ago from the Canadian Army, which was coming the country for 100 skilled machinist-fitters.

"These men," he said, "are still required. Applicants must be capable of instructing classes in these trades. Applicants should not be more than fifty-five years of age. They must be qualified fitters and must have served a normal apprenticeship at the trade, Mr. Mudge said.

The establishment of national selective service for men is resulting in an increased supply of labor for war work, Mr. Mudge explained. Briefly, it works off this way, because when men quit their jobs in restricted occupations they cannot return to work in these occupations without a permit from the selective service officer. Unless there are special meritorious circumstances the permit will not be granted and he will eventually wind up in war industry.

"There is, however, nothing to prevent a man from leaving a job in one kind of war industry to enter work in another. As Mr. Mudge points out, a man is still a free agent."

With the passing of the weeks, more women are finding employment in an increasing variety of occupations. Yesterday, for example, two were placed in sawmills where they will saw wood. Again, several women have replaced men in the city post office and as letter carriers.

"But," continued Mr. Mudge, "while women are to some extent replacing men—and so far we have supplied all the women we have been asked for—the big demand still is for men."

PROSECUTOR IS NAMED BY B.C.

Vancouver County to Have First Public Prosecutor in Province's History

Dr. Henrietta Anderson will address members of the Victoria Dental Assistants' Association and their guests at 10 o'clock this morning. The assistants will hold a luncheon in the Empress Hotel at noon, and will visit the Oakbay Beach Hotel for tea at 4 p.m.

Before leaving for the East, Attorney-General Macdonald announced the resignation of Walter Owen as Crown counsel for the County of Vancouver, and the appointment of S. J. Remnant as permanent prosecutor for the same county, the first such post in the Provincial service.

Referring to the change, Mr. Macdonald said that he would have liked to have retained the services of Mr. Owen, but that the latter did not feel inclined to leave his own practice to accept a full-time position under the Crown. The Attorney-General expressed his appreciation of the valuable service given by Mr. Owen during the many years he had carried out the duties of Crown counsel.

A permanent prosecutor for the County of Vancouver, Mr. Remnant will occupy the first full-time office set up by the Province in that connection. A partner of the Attorney-General for twenty years in the courts, Mr. Remnant is resigning his connection with the law firm with which he has been associated to enter the civil service, Mr. Macdonald announced in a statement made at his office here before leaving.

ECONOMIC PROPOSALS OF ATLANTIC CHARTER DISCUSSED BY SPEAKER

An encouraging prospect for the well-being of the world is indicated in the proposals of the Atlantic Charter, H. P. Hodges, associate editor of The Victoria Daily Times, said in an address before members of the Lions Club at their luncheon in Spencer's dining-room yesterday. Adoption of the proposed trade plans, with their provisions regarding raw materials, would mean a complete revision of prewar tariff policies, the speaker asserted.

Recalling President Wilson's famous "fourteen points," in which were visualized equality of trade conditions throughout the world, Mr. Hodges said that the economic provisions of the Atlantic Charter were still more comprehensive in their aims.

In the speaker's opinion the achievement of the main objectives of the Atlantic Charter would mean the giving up of material national advantages as well as involving individual sacrifices.

INDIA'S DIFFICULTIES SIMILAR TO CANADA'S

LONDON, April 30 (CP).—Viscount Bennett, speaking in the House of Lords, yesterday, said India's difficulties resemble those of Canada before Confederation.

Praising the record of the British Administration, the former Canadian Prime Minister declared that "if Britain disappeared today she would be remembered more for what she has done for India than for some of her great battles."

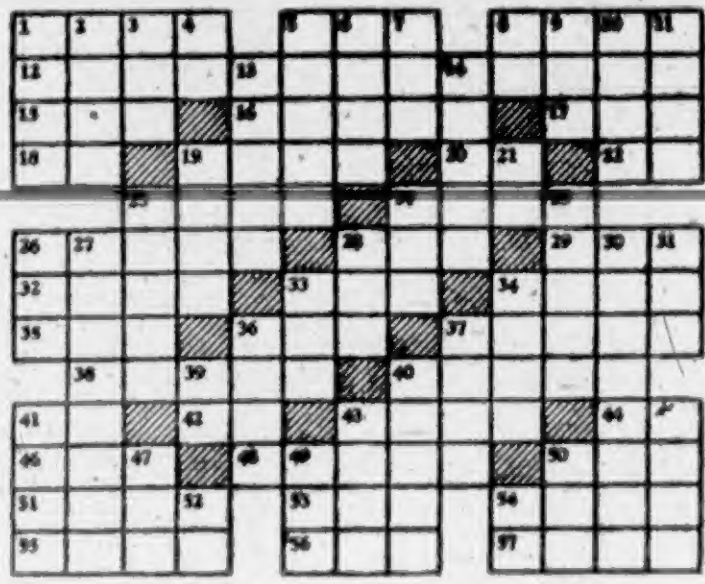

CHANGED

A small boy returned home from school and told his father he was now second in his class. The top place was held by a girl.

"But surely, John," said the father, "you're not going to be beaten by a mere girl?"

"Well, you see, father," explained John, "girls are not nearly so mere as they used to be."

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

SHOT DOWN OVER SWEDISH TERRITORY

LONDON, April 30 (CP).—A German plane taking an unauthorized route over Swedish territory was reported today to have been shot down by Swedish anti-aircraft fire. Reuters said in a Stockholm dispatch.

FIRE IN ONTARIO TOWN

WALLACEBURG, Ont., April 30 (CP).—Damage estimated at $35,000 was caused late yesterday when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the old Arlington Hotel in South Wallaceburg. The building was filled with packaged cartons owned by Dominion Glass Company.

WHAT IS MEANT BY THE "FATAL TWENTY?"

"What," inquires a reader who signs as "Numerologist," "is meant by the expression 'fatal twenty' in presidential elections?"

"Fatal twenty" is an allusion to the time interval between the presidential election years 1840, 1860, 1880, 1900 and 1920.

It is characterized as "fatal" because, oddly enough, every incumbent of the presidency, since and including the year 1840, who was elected in a year the date of which ended in zero, failed to complete his allotted term, passing away while in office.

For the sake of the record, they were William H. Harrison, 1840; Abraham Lincoln, 1860; James A. Garfield, 1880; William McKinley, 1900; Warren G. Harding, 1920.
